

Injunction Is Sought Against Cafe Fumes

An injunction against alleged pollution of the atmosphere on the south side of the Ponce de Leon apartments is sought in a petition filed Monday in Fulton superior court by the Fulton Properties Company against Tom Dato, Chris Cholas and Tom Zenas, operators of the Ritz cafe.

The plaintiff charges that cooking fumes and odors from the kitchen of the cafe permeate the windows of the apartment building even when the windows are closed, and that there are 29 apartments so affected. The petition alleges that the difficulty could be corrected by running a pipe or flue above the top of the plaintiff's building to expel the fumes and odors. Judge Virgil B. Moore, of the motion division, set the petition for a hearing on Thursday.

FIVE PERSONS BITTEN

Eight Animals Also Victims of Mad Dog.

Because at least eight dogs are known to have been bitten by another dog found to be mad, many children in the Ansley Park district are being transported to and from school either in busses or automobiles to guard against possible attacks of canines with incipient rabies.

Five people have been bitten by the dog found to be mad and are undergoing treatment now. They are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Van R. Smith, 65 East Park lane; their daughter, Miss Virginia Smith; L. Le Page Lewis, 1000 Piedmont road, and a maid of the Smiths.

Four of the eight dogs known to have been bitten already have been killed. The rabies-infected dog was killed Sunday.

Pleas for Zoning Changes Are Denied

Members of the city planning commission Monday voted adversely on both the petitions for changes in the zoning restrictions which were submitted to that body. Both sought to rezone the areas involved to permit business.

One of the petitions was for the corner of Juniper and Fifth streets and the other was Campbellton road and Holderness street.

3 to 5 Years Given To Robber of Store

Sentence of from three to five years was given James Byrd Monday by Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, on a plea of guilty to a charge of burglarizing the restaurant of Marie Suggs, 120 Gilmer street. The loot amounted to $12.35, according to the indictment.

INDUSTRIAL UNION OF STATES URGED

Geologist Suggests Organization To Further Growth of South.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 10. (P)—A suggestion that industrial development of the south be furthered by an industrial union of states which would work to the benefit of all was made by the fifth annual convention of the southern division, American Mining Congress here today by Dr. G. P. Grimsley, geologist of Baltimore.

Dr. Grimsley did not outline a plan under which the union could be organized, but said it should be an extension of the co-operative work of the different communities and states.

Progress of the south along industrial lines was the keynote of all speeches during the day. The chief executives of three states—Governor Bibb Graves, of Alabama; Governor W. J. Holloway, of Oklahoma; and Governor Harvey Parnell, of Arkansas—attended the opening sessions.

In a brief speech, Governor Holloway assured the delegates his state would aid in every development plan fostered by the congress. Emphasizing the value of the undeveloped resources of the south, Governor Parnell welcomed the delegates. Governor Graves will speak tomorrow afternoon.

Ernest Ramsey, of Birmingham, Ala., chairman of the board of directors, gave a brief resume of industrial progress of southern states as his annual address.

Criminal Court Judge Will Address Civitans

Judge Jesse Wood, of the criminal court of Atlanta, will be the principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Civitan Club at 12:30 today at the Atlanta Athletic Club. It is announced by Dr. W. Earl Quillian, president.

Van Wilkinson, chairman of the program committee, has arranged with students from Draughton's Business college to furnish the entertainment for the meeting.

Private Is Indicted On Murder Charge

Private Leonidas McGinnis, of Fort Oglethorpe, was indicted for the murder of Private Claude D. McMarree last December by the federal grand jury in session here Monday. The case came within the jurisdiction of the federal court since the alleged murder took place on a government reservation. He is to be tried in the Rome division of the court.

Investigation of the case by the office of the district attorney revealed a weird story of a dream of a long blood stained knife and a bloody uniform. It is claimed that a buddy of McMarree's saw the knife in a dream and that this resulted in its discovery and the charge of murder against McGinnis. He is being held at Fort Oglethorpe awaiting trial.

Committee Considers City Hall Contracts

Several routine matters relating to winding up contracts on erection of the new Atlanta city hall were considered Monday afternoon at a meeting of the special city hall committee of council.

They were referred in most instances to the chairman, Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward, and City Attorney James L. Mayson for a report and recommendation.

Another meeting of the committee is slated for 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, just before the regular meeting of council at 2 o'clock, the same day.

Youth, Protecting Mother, Kills Father

LAFAYETTE, Ala., March 10.—(P) In protection of his mother's life he said, Arthur Everett, 20-year-old Maroon youth, shot and killed his stepfather, Joe Yarbrough, 50, yesterday. He is in the county jail here awaiting preliminary hearing on a charge of murder.

Everett came to Lafayette after the shooting and surrendered to Sheriff John W. Lane.

Sheriff Lane said he had learned that Yarbrough had been drinking and attacked his wife, Everett's mother. He had, the sheriff said, beaten her, fired a pistol at her, and was about to shoot again when his stepson snatched another revolver and fired, killing Yarbrough instantly.

Maroon is nine miles north of here.

Forty Years a Wife, Woman Asks Alimony

Alimony from the husband who married her 40 years ago and, she alleges, deserted her five years ago, is sought in a petition filed Monday in Fulton superior court by Mrs. J. C. Guthrie, 58, against J. C. Guthrie.

Kidnapers Threaten College Girl's Life

DALLAS, Texas, March 10.—(P)—Fearing that kidnapers who abducted W. Quattlebaum, wealthy Pine Bluff, Ark., planter, last week and robbed him of a large sum of money and jewelry might seek to harm his daughter, Miss Cornelia Quattlebaum, a student at Southern Methodist University, friends here today were closely guarding the attractive girl.

Miss Quattlebaum moved from the place where she was living to the home of friends. This precaution was taken after her mother in Pine Bluff was reported to have notified the daughter that further demands had been made by her father's abductors and that her life had been threatened.

...AND PEBECO DOES A THIRD TASK, TOO!

Some tooth pastes clean. Others whiten. PEBECO does both... and something more. It counteracts the destructive mouth acids which attack the delicate enamel in the crevices and below the gum line and start decay. Pebeco checks these through stimulation of the saliva, Nature's normal protective agent. This scientific tooth paste thus gives you an extra value for your dentifrice money. Try it a week and it's your friend for life.—Advt.

Thacher Nomination Reported Favorably

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(P)—The nomination of Judge Thomas Day Thacher, of New York, to be solicitor-general was reported favorably to the senate today by its judiciary committee without opposition. Responding to a written request from the committee Judge Thacher informed the senate that he had sold his stock in four power companies. On the basis of that action the threatened opposition to his confirmation disappeared. Chairman Norris, of the committee, said he believed Thacher's nomination would be confirmed by the senate at an early date.

ALL GEORGIA MILK

All Milk Used By Pedigree Dairies From Clean
Tuberculin Tested Herds on Georgia Dairy Farms

We recognize the fact that Georgia with its fertile soil and its climate which affords each year eleven months of grazing for cattle, is destined to become one of the greatest dairy States of the nation. THE PEDIGREE DAIRIES BUYS ITS ENTIRE RAW MILK SUPPLY FROM GEORGIA DAIRY FARMERS BECAUSE IT SEEKS TO AID IN PROMOTING THE DAIRY AND AGRICULTURAL INDUSTRIES TO THE HIGHEST POINT OF PROFIT.

Our Plant

The plant of Pedigree Dairies is located at Walker and Haynes Sts., and is most modern in its architecture and its equipment. The building and machinery represents an investment of over $500,000.00. Our 48 delivery units assure to our customers prompt and reliable delivery. The Pedigree Dairies employs 100 Atlanta citizens and its weekly payroll amounts to $3,500.00. Pedigree Dairies is interested in the advancement of the city and loyal in its support of all that may make for that advancement.

Our Products

Pedigree Dairies, Inc., always has been insistent on purity and quality. Every scientific precaution is exercised to insure the cleanliness and wholesomeness of its milk, which by itself constitutes the most nutritious and valuable of all foods. Whether it be Grade "A" Raw or Pasteurized Milk, Buttermilk, Certified Milk or Cream delivered to your door before breakfast, if it is from Pedigree Dairies you may be assured that you are getting strictly high class products that carry the utmost possible assurance of quality and cleanliness.

PEDIGREE DAIRIES, Inc., true to its established reputation for leadership, announces a voluntary cut in the price of Grade "A" Pasteurized Milk, delivered to your home before breakfast, from 16 cents to 14 cents per quart, and a corresponding cut in price of Grade "A" Raw Milk from 18c to 16c per quart.

This decrease of two cents per quart is made possible entirely by our new enlarged gathering and delivery facilities, now having a capacity to handle, swiftly and dependably, twice our usual volume at no extra cost. This material saving in our distribution costs we gladly pass on to the consumer where it belongs, that more safe, health-giving milk may be used, that the dairy industry of the State may be stimulated, and that living costs of Atlanta families may be reduced.

THERE IS POSITIVELY NO REDUCTION IN THE PRICE PAID TO THE SOLE PRODUCER OF OUR RAW MILK, THE GEORGIA DAIRY FARMER.

This reduction in the price of milk is simply the result of volume distribution. The Pedigree Dairies, Inc., is the largest company of its kind in the city, delivering the highest quality dairy products to over 5,000 families in metropolitan Atlanta. Pedigree Dairy Products, either raw or pasteurized milk, cream, buttermilk, or certified milk, are safe, wholesome, pure and as sanitary as modern scientific safeguards can make them. Every Georgia dairy producing raw milk for our plant is under a careful inspection, which insists upon clean barns, clean utensils, and tuberculin tested cows. Every one of our plant operators or route men receives a regular medical examination. All machinery, all bottles and even all bottle cases are sterilized every day, and leading bacteriologists are employed to constantly analyze our milk, that the public may be absolutely protected at all times.

Pedigree Dairies, Inc., naturally expects that its voluntary price reduction on this most essential food product will be appreciated by thinking men and women, and that they will demonstrate that appreciation by a liberal support of a company which has served them well and faithfully and which has the unselfish courage to direct its activities in a substantial way toward the economic advancement of the city and the State at large.

$2500-Cash Prizes

For Religious, Charitable and Civic Organizations

With our announcement of price reduction for home deliveries, we also briefly set forth our $2,500.00 cash prize offering to Atlanta church, charitable and civic organizations, the intention being to enlist their efforts in quickly carrying the benefits of this economy to every home. At the same time, it provides a means whereby they may add substantial sums to their treasuries for beneficent purposes.

Why Should Atlanta Pay More?

In population and other conditions they afford a fair basis for comparison.

These prices on Grade "A" Pasteurized Milk were supplied to us by the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Agricultural Economics. They naturally show a difference owing to various sectional conditions. We believe that our present prices are absolutely fair for Atlanta.

RECIPE TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary. Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 oz. of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

At the first feeling of congestion and feverishness, take a Stanback Headache Powder. It is the prescription of an eminent druggist, designed originally to relieve headache and other pains, which now has been found invaluable in breaking up colds.

There are no bad after effects, with Stanback. It is a simple, harmless preparation. Used by many physicians and dentists throughout the South as a pain relieving agent. Druggists everywhere carry Stanback and recommend it.

J. K. Ottley, Jr., Writes Of Aviation Progress

The rise of aviation as a definite factor in Atlanta industry forms the basis of the feature article in the March edition of "The City Builder," just off the press.

The leading article is written by John K. Ottley, Jr., local representative of the Eastern Air Transport, Inc. It is illustrated with a large picture of the first plane manufactured by the Atlanta Aircraft Corporation.

Adorning the front cover of the March issue is a picture of the recently completed city hall.

Other stories in the March edition deal with reminiscences of Atlanta of "cross-road" days; the annual pilgrimage to Magnolia Gardens at Charleston, S. C.; Atlanta Music Center developments and other musical interests and fire prevention.

PEDIGREE DAIRIES CUTS PRICE OF MILK

Cash Prizes of $2,500 Offered in Contest for New Customers.

Pedigree Dairies, Inc., announces a reduction of 2 cents a quart on the price of milk, effective Monday, in connection with the opening of a $2,500 cash prize campaign for the benefit of religious, charitable and civic organizations of Atlanta.

Grade A pasteurized milk has been reduced from 16 to 14 cents, and the price of Grade A raw milk has been reduced from 18 to 16 cents.

The company at present is serving 5,000 Atlanta families with milk and dairy products, according to E. B. George, executive head of the organization, and it is felt that interest in milk consumption will be stimulated by introduction of lower prices and the prize campaign.

First prize will be $1,000, with a scale of awards to $100 for ninth place.

In making the announcement Mr. George says: "We are extending to religious, charitable and civic organizations this opportunity to co-operate with us in familiarizing citizens with this community with our milk and at the same time make the prices of the commodity lower."

"These organizations desiring to participate are asked only to name our desire to obtain additional users of Pedigree milk. To the organization obtaining the most additions the first award will be made. Subsequent prizes will go to those showing successive additions."

"We use milk only produced by Georgia cows," he said, "and I wish to make it clear that this price reduction does not affect Georgia farmers supplying us with our milk. We are extending to our customers before breakfast each morning. It is in this department that our efficiency manifests itself for purposes of the reduction."

"Every producing dairy in this section which supplies us with milk is subjected to most rigid inspections. Our interest in the quality of milk submitted is followed to the closest detail. Scrupulous inspections are made of the cow, the barn, milking implements, bottles and the cases in which bottles are delivered. Bottles are sterilized many times before delivery to consumers and the cases are placed under boiling water after each delivery."

Mr. George said the prize money had been deposited in the Citizens and Southern bank and the auditing firm of Ernst & Ernst has been engaged to verify the results.

Pedigree Dairies, Inc., maintains headquarters at Walker and Haynes streets where a $300,000 plant is used to assimilate and distribute its Atlanta milk supply. In this establishment 100 Atlanta men are employed with a weekly payroll of $3,800.

County Leaders Jubilant as Loan Fund Is Received

Plans for Grand Lodge To Recognize Health Resort Foundation Under Way.

Members of the Fulton county commission, as official heads of the county government, Monday had that grand and glorious feeling that comes when one has all his debts paid up to date and, in addition, money in the bank to draw interest.

The reason for the jubilation was the arrival from New York of the second-half of a $230,000 loan obtained by the county in anticipation of 1930 tax receipts. At a special meeting of the commission Monday afternoon, it was stated that all obligations of the county to date will be paid out of the loan and that there will be $116,100 left in the Atlanta banks, which the commission, aided by collection of back taxes, etc., will apply toward obligations incurred in the future until current year's taxes start coming in.

The 1930 loan was obtained at the lowest rate of interest secured by the board of commissioners within 20 years, 5.1 per cent, as against more than 6 per cent the county paid last year. Provisions of the Georgia law which kept the county from obtaining current year revenue until late in the year, after the tax rate is fixed in September, make the loan necessary, it was said.

Out of the loan, the city of Atlanta today will be paid $100,000 donated by the county in 1925 as its contribution toward maintenance of Grady hospital, Battle Hill sanatorium and fire protection. The donation was requested in order that the city might balance its 1928 budget and pay the school teachers, it was said.

AMERICAN BUSINESS CLUB TO MEET TODAY

DELEGATION OF ELKS VISITS WARM SPRINGS

Plans for Grand Lodge To Recognize Health Resort Foundation Under Way.

Plans for the grand lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks to recognize in a substantial way the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation were set in motion Sunday when a delegation of nationally known Elks, accompanied by John S. McLelland, exalted ruler, and R. E. Lee Reynolds, secretary, respectively, of Atlanta lodge, No. 78, paid a visit to the springs and made an inspection of the properties there.

Included in the delegation which went from Atlanta were Grand Secretary J. Edgar Masters, of Charleston, S. C.; S. John Connolly, secretary to the grand exalted ruler, Beverly, Mass., and Florrie Schrader, traveling secretary to the grand exalted ruler, of Allegheny, Pa.; Grand Exalted Ruler Andrews, who has been ill in Philadelphia for weeks, was unable to get here in time to accompany the distinguished party, but he is expected to reach Atlanta Thursday.

Interest of Elks in the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation began when Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, a member of the Poughkeepsie lodge, became interested in the curative powers of Warm Springs waters. Since that time it has been the hope of Elksdom to aid in the development of the properties and extending their benefits to sufferers.

The delegation which went to the springs Sunday was welcomed by Secretary Carpenter and Dr. Lefroy W. Hubbard, surgeon-in-chief of the foundation, and shown through the grounds, swimming pools, including the new glass enclosed pool presented by Mr. and Mrs. Kinsel Ford, and later entertained at lunch.

THE SHOCK OF FACING what your figure may become "Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper form, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED."
Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"
Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Special Classes Retained In Report of Committee

Kindergartens and Other Courses Are To Be Continued This Year, W. W. Gaines Announces.

Preservation of the K-6-3-3 educational program for the Atlanta public school system will be recommended to the Atlanta Board of Education at 3 o'clock this afternoon when that body meets to formulate a budget for operation and maintenance of the schools for the remainder of the year, it was announced by W. W. Gaines, chairman of the current expenditures committee.

The current expenditures committee Monday afternoon held a secret meeting at the administrative offices at the new city hall, barring the public and newspaper men. Mr. Gaines' announcement followed the session, and he declined to say how the committee contemplated preservation of the kindergartens, the six years of elementary training, the three years of junior high school work and the three additional years of senior high school without an increase in revenue for the department.

Will Operate Within Budget. Administration officials and leading members of the board have stated that the $3,185,000 allocated for school purposes was $500,000 short of the needs, and have held that the total sum set up for the schools will not meet the actual pay rolls of employees, but after the session Monday afternoon Mr. Gaines insisted that the entire system will remain intact, including special classes, that money will be allowed for maintenance of buildings which are said to be in a deplorable state of repair in many instances and that the system will operate within the budget.

There was much conjecture following the announcement as to just how the matter is to be handled under the plan of the current expenditures body, and the only feasible one advanced was a wholesale consolidation of classes, overloading of which might jeopardize the standing of the schools on the accredited list of the Southern Association of Colleges, and force graduates of the system to stand written examinations before being admitted to standard schools of higher learning.

There was a prediction that kindergartens and the visual education department would be eliminated in the revised budget, but Mr. Gaines declared that both had been preserved and that all other special classes had been saved. He added that no announcement of the action of the committee would be made prior to the session this afternoon.

No outbreak of the factional fight over retention of Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, is expected this afternoon, both sides having entered an agreement to await action of a special committee named to probe conduct of the office.

The latest battle over over Ritchie was precipitated immediately following presentments of the Fulton county grand jury March 1, in which the business head of the schools was scored for alleged extravagances and waste of public funds in purchase of supplies. Mr. Ritchie Monday reiterated a statement he had made previously that he would not resign from the system while his record is under a cloud, but intimated that if the investigating committee gives him a clean bill of health he would quit for the best interests of the schools themselves.

Miss Mary Postell, assistant superintendent in charge of elementary schools, Monday issued a statement defending the kindergartens.

Mrs. George Adair Sues Candler, Inc.

Trial of a suit brought by Frank C. Ellis as administrator of the estate of the late George W. Adair against Asa G. Candler, Incorporated, for recovery of one-half of profits in property located at the northwest corner of West Peachtree and Baker streets probably will be concluded this morning in Judge G. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court. According to the plaintiff, Forrest and George Adair, in 1910, entered into an agreement with Asa G. Candler whereby the latter was to furnish funds for operation, receiving in return certain stock. The agreement was that the profits would be distributed equally, it was said. The Adairs gave a deed to the property to Candler in 1916, and Candler later transferred all his holdings to Asa G. Candler, Incorporated. However, according to the defendant, there was a further agreement whereby the Adairs were to continue to receive half of the profits. Mrs. Adair exhibited a letter alleged to have been written by Candler to George W. Adair, setting out such an agreement.

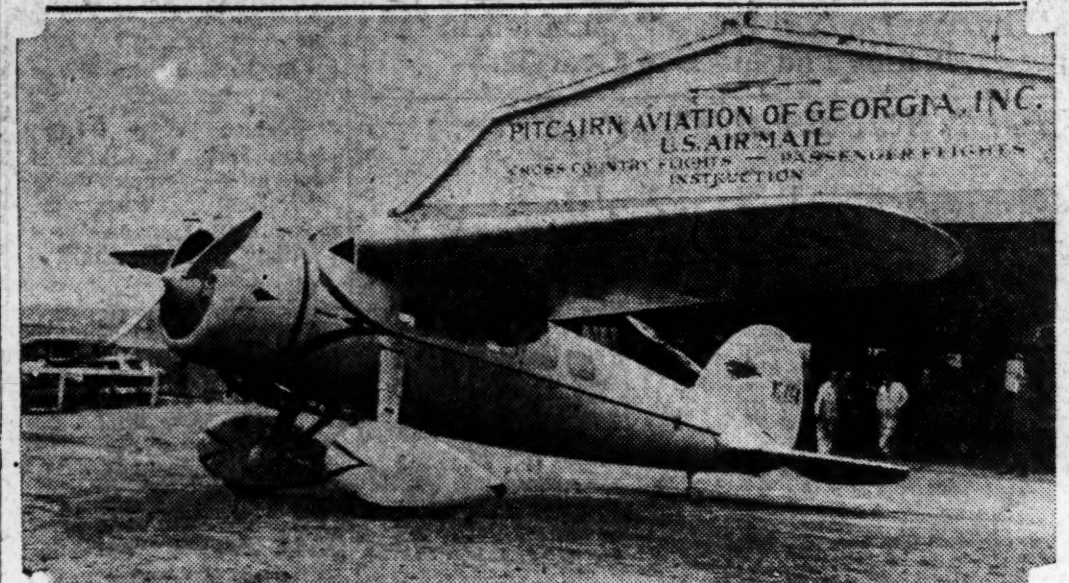

The defendant contends that the property was transferred by Candler to Asa G. Candler, Incorporated, was a bona fide sale. The plaintiff is represented by Robert B. Troutman and James A. Branch as counsel, and the defendant is represented by William D. Thomson.

Murderer Hanged In Wyoming Prison

RAWLINS, Wyo., March 10.—(AP) Joseph Brownfield, 54, was hanged at the state prison shortly after midnight, the seventh man in the history of the institution to pay the supreme penalty. He stepped on the trap at 12:18 a. m. and was pronounced dead at 12:33 a. m. by Dr. Raymond Barber, prison physician.

Brownfield was convicted last November of the murder of Theodore Thomas. He shot Thomas and then assaulted Mrs. Thomas last July. Brownfield was calm and made no statement.

The Majestic Sikorsky, owned by the Grigsby-Grunow Company, of Chicago, and flown here Sunday morning in charge of Pilot H. B. Griggs and Mechanic Michael Pravikoff, took off for New York early Monday and, according to a telegram received last night, reached the metropolis at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, after a stop at Norfolk, Va., for fuel. Passengers carried were Herbert Young, general sales manager of the Grigsby-Grunow Company, and W. H. Reinberry, local distributor for Majestic radios. From New York, the ship will fly to Boston, Cleveland and Cincinnati before returning to Chicago.

For 11 years Pilot H. B. Griggs was in the naval air service and was regarded as one of the most valuable fliers in that branch. He went into the service during the war and spent the majority of his time in training work, chiefly on navy bombers. During the course of his naval career he had occasion to fly 26 different types of air corps ships, a total which, since his entrance into the commercial field, has mounted to nearly 40. Griggs is reputed to be the only pilot who ever landed a ship safely with the wings and elevators jammed, this feat winning him the navy's official commendation. He is credited with a total of 5,000 hours in the air.

Griggs' mechanic, Michael Vladimir Pravikoff, has had a career more colorful and interesting, if anything, than that of his "chief." Born in Polotsk, Russia, he attended the military academy and the naval academy at Petrograd, being graduated from the latter institution. He fought with distinction with the white army in Russia, shortly thereafter moving to this country and becoming associated with his fellow countryman, Igor Sikorsky, in the latter's Sikorsky Aviation Corporation, makers of the amphibion and now a division of United Aircraft and Transport, Inc.

Beeler Blevins, veteran Atlanta flier, who was "burned out" this day night in a fire which destroyed $140,000 worth of equipment, asked this column to express his appreciation to Southern Air Transport, Inc., Eastern Air Transport, Inc., and Curtiss-Wright Flying Service for their kindness in offering him the use of their facilities until he could get re-established. Widely known throughout the country, letters and telegrams of sympathy poured in on him when news of the catastrophe made the rounds. Blevins said Monday night that he was going right ahead with his rehabilitation plans and, in a comparatively short time, would resume at his old stand, "bigger and better than ever," very pleasant news to his many friends here.

The operations headquarters of the southern branch of the Interstate Airlines, Inc., operators of the Atlanta-Chicago air mail route, Monday were moved from Evansville, Ind., to Candler field, three of the pilots who fly over the route regularly taking up their residence in Atlanta. Durward Leubetter already has brought his family here; W. J. Jamieson will bring his "home folks" down later, while Usher Roush had no one to bring but himself, which he has done. Operating from the new base here, the fliers will spend two days in Atlanta for every one spent in Evansville, just the reverse of the former schedule. The revision was made, according to W. E. Besch, Interstate field manager, to speed the flying of night mail, soon to be started on the route.

Sharing in the increase in air mail postage noted throughout the United States during February, the four routes operating into and out of Atlanta showed considerable increases for the month, according to figures released Monday from Washington by the postmaster-general. The increases were registered in spite of February's 28 days, as compared with 31 in January. The Atlanta-New York line, operated by Eastern Air Transport, jumped from 27,171 pounds in January to 31,126 in February, as compared with 28,151 in December; the Atlanta-New Orleans route of Gulf Airlines carried 6,854 pounds in December, 6,889 in January and 7,493 last month; the Atlanta-Miami line, operated by Eastern Air Transport, had 13,181 pounds in December, 11,440 in January and 15,349 in February. Judge Albert B. Chase, of New York state, supreme trustee of the Order of the Macabees, was honor guest at a reception and entertainment given Monday night by Georgia Tent No. 3, of the order, in the Red Men's Wigwam.

In a brief speech, he pointed out that the Macabees are, measured by solvency, the strongest fraternal life insurance group in the world today with assets of $45,000,000, of which amount $10,000,000 is invested in the south. He said the order was 100 per cent solvent.

Wisconsin Co-Ed's Marriage Annulled

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 10.—(AP)—The marriage of Miss Alice Gutknecht, University of Wisconsin co-ed, and R. A. Davis, of Mesa, Ariz., disabled World War veteran and already a married man, which followed a whirlwind courtship in Mexico City, was legally ended today when District Judge Frederick Stevens entered a decree of annulment.

This procedure was agreed to by Davis and the young woman after he had been confronted with a description of himself furnished by Arizona officers and had admitted he had a family in Mesa. Because of his services overseas no action will be taken to bring the veteran into court for criminal action, the wife and her mother said.

The addition of an N. A. C. A. engine cowling and wheel "pants" to this streamlining added approximately 20 miles an hour to the ship's speed. It is finished in a warm shade of cream, with a stripe of black and gold running from cowling to tail group.

Blevins was enthusiastic over the ship, of which he will be in charge. "It seems to 'handle' even more satisfactorily than the first one, if such a thing is possible," he said Monday night, "and it's a genuine pleasure to fly it."

The Candler ship was planned extensively for pleasure and business. Their former ship, which they purchased through Blevins two or three months ago, had been in the air approximately 85 hours when it was destroyed. Trips were made to New York, Miami, Galveston, Texas, Chicago and many other points, near and far.

County Post Incumbents Score Opposition Tactics

Substitutes Speakers for Two Candidates Are Barred at Inman Park School Rally.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK. With only eight working days remaining before the democratic primary, March 19, in which three county commissioners are to be named, incumbents spoke Monday night at a political rally held at the Inman school.

Jack C. Savage, assistant attorney for the borough of Atlanta, who presided, declined to permit substitute speakers to take the rostrum in favor of an opposing ticket, declaring he was acting on his instructions from sponsors of the session.

All three incumbents were present in person, while only Dr. Dan Griffith, one of the opposing ticket, was on the rostrum. Virgil Adams, one of the speakers who has taken the oratorical lead for county opposition, and another speaker, who represented Nelson Spratt and Alex Whitley, were barred from the speaker's stand.

Another rally was held at Bolton by friends of Mr. Whitley and he attended that meeting in person, where he was cordially received.

The Inman school audience was for the most part made up of supporters of the incumbent ticket, and they gave Walter C. Hendrix, Paul S. Etheridge and Dr. William L. Gilbert an enthusiastic welcome.

Dr. Griffith was the first to take the rostrum. He reiterated his charge that Fulton county is $23,000 in debt or it would not have been forced to negotiate a loan for that amount to tide the county until tax receipts begin to come in. He hit the wage scale paid the small worker among the county forces, contending that drivers and others now getting $3 a day should be given $4 a day.

He also issued a denial that his ticket plans to abolish the department of public works.

"I want the people of Fulton county to know there are two separate races in this campaign," Mr. Hendrix declared. "Dr. Griffith and myself are in a totally separate race and the one who receives the highest number of votes will be one of the commissioners even if both of us get less votes than any one of the other four candidates."

That is because, under the law, one of the commissioners must come from an unincorporated area. Therefore, my only opponent is Dr. Griffith.

"It seems that the opposing ticket already has been holding what our night call embryonic commission meetings because they declare they are not planning to abolish the public works department."

"We are calling a certain road throughout the county," Dr. Griffith got a road, leading up to his own house, from Fulton county, free of any cost, and we want to see it extended around his house. He already has attempted to obtain a promise from the commission to extend the road further through his property.

"When he mounts the steps of the Fulton county courthouse as a commissioner in his lily-white robe of innocence, holding the trail of the robe with one hand to keep it from the political mire, voters of Fulton county might do well to investigate what his other hand holds so tightly. It might be a brand-new resolution to extend that road through his property."

Commissioners were established long ago by the opposition, he stated that they tell us "Fulton county—Georgia's richest county—is near a financial crisis which has attempted to ride into office on a wave of unrest and suspicion by crying, 'Turn the rascals out.'"

"Sponsors of this opposition ticket are sending thousands and thousands of dollars in the effort to tell the public that the county is nearing a financial crisis," he declared.

Quoting from a publication gotten out by the opposition, he stated that they tell us "Fulton county—Georgia's richest county—is near a financial crisis which has attempted to ride into office on a wave of unrest and suspicion by crying, 'Turn the rascals out.'"

"If that is true, it is time for voters of this county to take up this issue," he said. "This opposition ticket has a unified platform. They all agree and subscribe to it. Headquarters were established long before any candidate announced. Scores of workers were placed in the field before any candidate actively took the field. I am wondering if this means anything to you. It means to me that there is a strong force, with plenty of money fighting the incumbents. Why?"

Dr. Gilbert arrived late and took only a few minutes asking those present to support him in the race March 19.

Meetings for Today. Two meetings are slated for today, to which the candidates have been invited.

One is at 1 o'clock this afternoon before the Atlanta League of Women Voters, at the Daffodil tea room, over which Mrs. Harry Greene, president, will preside. The other is a gathering at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the English Avenue school in the interest of the Spratt-Griffith-Whitley campaign.

Candidates also were invited Monday to attend a rally to be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night at the Crew Street school under auspices of the Second Ward Citizens' Club, of which William C. Slate is secretary.

There will be another meeting of the Spratt-Griffith-Whitley ticket at 8 o'clock Friday night at Orchard Knob, on Jonesboro road. All candidates are invited.

Thomas H. Jeffries, ordinary, Monday declared he could not set the date for the special election to select a successor to the late Thomas C. Miller, clerk of the Fulton county superior court, before Saturday, due to the fact that the voters' lists are not complete.

James M. George is now acting clerk on appointment of the Fulton county commission. There were persistent rumors Monday that A. C. Minihine, prominent Atlanta attorney, will become a candidate for the post in opposition to Mr. George.

Constitution Prize Offer Gets Immediate Response

Awards Include 18 Automobiles and 20 Radios. Commission Is Open to All.

Responding with alacrity to The Atlanta Constitution's invitation to share in its widely discussed $25,000 prize distribution which takes place shortly after May 31, men and women are enrolling from all parts of

The Constitution's territory. Eighteen automobiles, ranging from $600 upward to $3,100 and 20 Atwater Kent radios are to be given away in the short, thrilling race for credits just starting.

The prize is available to all men and women over 21 years of age, who reside within The Constitution's territory, with the exception of employees of The Atlanta Constitution. It does not cost one cent to enter the campaign or to win a prize. You do not even have to be a subscriber to The Constitution in order to participate in the campaign.

The fairness of the method to be followed in awarding the prizes appeals alike to the city and outside candidates. Where one lives is a minor consideration for those who enter, as both divisions of the territory are bound to share impartially, as explained in detail in the full-page advertisement in today's Constitution. One person has precisely the same opportunity that confronts another and it rests entirely upon the eagerness with which credits are gathered as to who shall be the fortunate ones to win the awards. In addition to the 18 automobiles and 20 radios, a liberal cash commission will be paid to all active candidates who fall to win one of the major awards. It can readily be seen that The Atlanta Constitution's prize offer is an opportunity where no one need go without their reward. Here is a campaign where everybody wins.

List of Prizes.
The first and second grand prizes are a $3,120 Pierce Arrow sedan and a $2,835 Franklin sedan. The division prizes are a $1,815 Nash sedan, a $1,495 Reo sport sedan, a $1,295 Marmon Roosevelt eight sedan, a $1,180 Chrysler brougham, a $966 Pontiac sedan and a $895 Essex coach. These division prize cars will be awarded three each to the two divisions. Then come the district awards, as follows: Five $375 Chrysler coaches, five $368 Ford Tudor sedans, ten $174.50 Atwater Kent radios and ten $146.50 Atwater Kent radios. Each district will be awarded one of the district prize cars and two radios.

Subscription Credits.
Only credits are required to win. These are obtained by securing both new and renewal subscriptions to The Atlanta Constitution. When a person enters the campaign an entry credit of 5,000 credits is given. As an inducement to get a start 10,000 extra credits are given with the first subscription. An entry blank with the credit schedule is printed today in the full-page campaign announcement.

The campaign is just starting and ends May 31. The main thing is to get an early start by bringing or sending in the entry blank at once. As soon as your entry is received, everything needed to assist in getting subscriptions will be given you.

Campaign headquarters have been established on the third floor of The Constitution building. Callers are welcome. Information may also be obtained by phoning Walnut 6565 and asking for the prize campaign department.

Turn now to the full-page campaign announcement and read the full particulars of this wonderful prize offer.

Greater Atlanta Council to Study School Systems

Minute study of the educational programs of every system in the Greater Atlanta area will be begun at once by a view making recommendations as to any changes which should be made in the interest of economy and curricula, it was announced Monday by William D. Thompson, of the unincorporated districts of DeKalb county, at the monthly meeting of the Greater Atlanta Council at the Atlanta city hall.

Mr. Thompson declared he already has asked the various system heads to furnish data on attendance, costs, salary schedules, etc., in order that the information may be before the school committee of that body when he calls it into session.

"We propose to give the matter careful consideration and will file recommendations with this body after our close study of the problem," he said. "We shall go into every phase of the public educational program."

The DeKalb representative presided at the session of the council Monday afternoon, executive duties preventing Mayor J. N. Ragsdale, mayor of Greater Atlanta, from attending.

Council adopted a set of rules, an order of business and other laws which will govern the proceedings of the council. A petition of Councilman Harry G. Poole, of Poole's district, Fulton county, asking Fulton county commissioners to pave Willis drive from Cascade avenue to Campbellton road, was referred to the roads and streets committee, which Mr. Poole heads. A report will be filed with council at its next regular meeting, April 14.

Chief Beavers Cleared Of Reckless Driving

A reckless driving charge which Chief of Police James L. Beavers Sunday afternoon directed against a subordinate to lodge against him was dismissed in the court of Recorder A. W. Callaway Monday morning.

Sam Hay, of 3535 Luville avenue, whose car struck that of the chief said that the chief was too modest in giving testimony. Hay admitted he was principally to blame for the collision and a fine of $15 and costs was assessed against him.

Judge Given Term For Misusing Office

MIAMI, Fla., March 10.—(AP)—Tom Norfleet, former judge of the Dade county criminal court, of record, was sentenced to four months in jail today on his conviction of charges of malpractice in office. He announced immediately he would appeal the decision to the circuit court and was released under $1,000 bond.

Sentence was passed by Judge W. R. Petteway, of Tampa, after a motion for a new trial had been overruled. Judge Petteway presided in the place of Judge E. C. Collins, who disqualified himself on the grounds that he formerly represented Norfleet. Charges of malpractice were brought against the former jurist in connection with the return of gambling paraphernalia seized while he was on the bench and which was to have been used as evidence.

Dry Law Opponents Cover Penny's Loss

PHILADELPHIA, March 10.—(UP)—The loss suffered by the Pennsylvania Railroad when three members of the W. C. T. U. cancelled reservations on the railroad after the Pennsylvania's president, W. W. Atterbury, testified before the house judiciary committee in behalf of the wets, has been made up.

Raymond Pitcairn, state publicity chairman for the Association against Prohibition, forwarded a check today to President Atterbury for $14.90 "to cover the loss to the Pennsylvania railroad caused by cancellation of fares by three dry witnesses who appeared before the house judiciary committee."

Help the Sickly, Frail, Puny Child

Your doctor prescribes Cod Liver Oil for your frail, backward, listless boy or girl because it contains Vitamins A and D.

Without these health-building vitamins, the bad tasting oil that children hate to take would be useless.

And now, Mother, when you are absolutely sure of getting these magical vitamins in the new and improved McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets, we know that you won't torture them with obnoxious liquid Cod Liver Oil any more.

For the able chemists in McCoy's Laboratory are extracting these precious vitamins from pure Norwegian Vitamin-tested Cod Liver Oil and putting them in sugar-coated tablets that children love to take.

Two of these tablets are equal to one teaspoonful of pure Cod Liver Oil. We would not be allowed to make this statement if it was not true. McCoy's Tablets can be taken winter and summer and for every ailment, sickness, rundown or underweight condition for which Cod Liver Oil is prescribed. McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are equally as good.

And that means for grown-ups as well as children. No drugs—Vitamins only. 60 tablets, 60c at any drug store in America.—(adv.)

Best oil cheapest in home, says factory supt.

"The last thing we'd try to economize on," says the superintendent of a large eastern factory, "is lubricating oil. By using cheap oil we could save hundreds of dollars each year—but it would cost us thousands of dollars for repairs, replacements and lessened efficiency of equipment."

The same is true in the home. If all housewives knew what factory men know about lubrication, few of them would use anything but 3-in-One Oil for their expensive sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, electric fans, lawn mowers, washers, and other household devices. 3-in-One, a blend of mineral, vegetable and animal oils, is the best oil for household use, for it cleans and protects as well as lubricates.

Ask for the old reliable 3-in-One Oil at good drug, grocery, hardware, department and general stores; in 15c and 30c sizes. For your protection, look for the trade mark "3-in-One" printed in Red on every package.—(adv.)

Skin blemishes always embarrassed me. Aches and pains coursed through my body. I wanted to restore my health and live. What was I to do? . . . happily the day came and I found the right road to Health when a friend recommended S.S.S."

You may be one of the thousands with a low blood count—to this may be attributed "run-down" systems, skin troubles, and even more serious ailments.

Did you know that every cubic millimeter of the normal, healthy person's blood should contain about 5,000,000 red corpuscles? They are the tiny, red particles which give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to the cells of the body. Rich, red blood wards off disease. It is very dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood. For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

SSS is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs, gathered at the proper season of the year. It gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again. All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical. © S.S.S. Co.

Senator George, Judge Sibley Boomed for Supreme Court

Indorsement of Georgians Pour Into Washington as Hoover Considers Filling Vacancy.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, March 10.—(Special.)—While official and political Washington was speculating on the probability of President Hoover adhering to the traditional policy of maintaining the past scale of geographical representation on the United States supreme court, the state of Georgia came forward today with two likely contenders for the post made vacant Saturday by the lamented death of Associate Justice Edward Terry Sanford.

On the assumption that the chief executive will go to the native southland of the distinguished Tennessee jurist in selecting his successor, the names of Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, and Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the northern United States district court of Georgia, have been included in the list of those who are expected to receive serious consideration.

Although the Georgia senator insisted today that he would not consent to the submission of his name for the post, it was regarded as significant that telegraphic messages and communications urging him for the vacancy began arriving in Washington Saturday night before the full news of the associate justice's unexpected death had been published. Such indorsements in behalf of Senator George may be expected to continue until the president's announcement of appointment, while it was clear that strong indorsements will be made also for Judge Sibley.

Estem Held High.

and esteem in which both are held by the legal fraternity.
For the moment there is no indication as to when an appointment may be made. The president may wait until after the expiration of the 30-day period of mourning, proclaimed on account of the deaths on the same day of former Chief Justice Taft and Mr. Sanford, or he may press the matter for earlier determination.

Justice Sanford's going leaves the south with a lone representative on the highest tribunal in the land—Associate Justice James Clark McReynolds, also of Tennessee, who celebrated his sixty-eighth birthday less than a month and a half ago. Seldom in the history of the nation has the south found itself with less than two of the nine members constituting the supreme court. There have been brief periods of single representation, but the rule, established by long precedent, has been to allot at least two members from the important tier of states extending from Virginia to the Mississippi.

The name of Senator George is automatically included in any supreme court eligibles from the southern section, not only because of his long service on the bench in Georgia, but because of the reputation he has gained since coming to the senate as an authority on constitutional questions.
Recognized Authority.
Early after his election to the senate in 1922 as the successor to the late Senator Thomas E. Watson, he came to be recognized as having one of the finest legal minds in the chamber. In 1923, when the senate was considering the nomination of J. Walsh, of Montana, there is hardly a member of the senate who approaches his equal in ability to discuss questions of constitutional importance.

In recent years it has come to be the expected in congressional press galleries, circles and the senate itself, that Senator George will be the first authority in any senatorial debate growing out of an interpretation of the federal organic law. The highest tribunal itself has gone out of its way to pay a unique tribute to the Georgia senator's ability as a constitutional authority, only a year or so ago the supreme court, in passing on an important case of the day incorporated in its decision passages from a speech Senator George had delivered on the subject on the floor of the upper chamber and citing his conclusions in support of its findings. There is no record of a similar incident in recent years.

From his service first as a superior court judge and later as a member of the state court of appeals and finally the state supreme court, Senator George is regarded as having a rigidity of judicial conception that places him in the front ranks of any candidates that may be mentioned. Although a member of the opposite political party from the president, his philosophy of government by no means eliminates him from consideration at the hands of Mr. Hoover.

Many from East.
While no one is able to say whether the president will adhere to the past policy of geographical representation, it nevertheless will be brought closely to his attention the preponderance of numbers now held on the court by the eastern tier of states. Mr. Justice Brandeis and Holmes are accredited to Massachusetts, and Mr. Justice Stone to New York, while the latter state also now holds the chief justiceship by virtue of the recent appointment of Charles Evans Hughes upon the resignation of Mr. Taft. Thus almost half of the tribunal comes from New England and the east.
Of the remaining places not counting the Sanford vacancy or the post of Mr. McReynolds, Mr. Justice Van Devanter comes from Wyoming, Mr. Justice Sutherland from Utah, and Mr. Justice Butler from Minnesota. This would seem to warrant to the conclusion that the middle west and the far west has its full measure of representation.

West Coast None.
While the Pacific coast has not a place on the tribunal the close proximity of the native states of Justices Butler and Sutherland serves the purpose of the region, making it all the more apparent that the vacancy on the court left by Mr. Sanford should go to the south.

Whether Senator George would accept the post if tendered him is not known for the moment. Her certainly could not refuse such high office without careful consideration, but in times past when he was proposed for other vacancies, which were not expected to go to the south, the close friends are known to have advised against it. Still a young member of the senate as ages go in the senate, it has been impressed upon him that he has a brilliant career before him—one that seems certain to count the senate leadership of his party in the not far distant future. If not the democratic presidential nomination, by going on the supreme court he would tend to bury himself politically in the high robes of the office.

IN THE SPRING OF 1917 THE RUSSIAN MASSES WERE HEARTILY OPPOSED TO CONTINUING THE WAR. THEY WANTED PEACE SO THAT THEY MIGHT ENJOY THE NEW FREEDOM WON BY THE REVOLUTION. THE SOVIET PROPOSAL FOR AN IMMEDIATE PEACE ON THE BASIS OF NO ANNEXTIONS, NO INDEMNITIES AND SELF-DETERMINATION FOR ALL PEOPLES.

THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT UNDER PRESSURE OF THE SOVIET WAS FORCED TO PUBLICLY DECLARE ITSELF IN FAVOR OF THIS PROPOSAL. BUT WHEN MILUKOFF, MINISTER FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS, SENT COPIES OF THIS DECLARATION TO RUSSIAN MINISTERS ABROAD HE ATTACHED A NOTE TO THE ALLIES ASSURING THEM THAT RUSSIA'S POSITION RELATIVE TO THE WAR REMAINED UNCHANGED.

GIRL PILOT SETS ALTITUDE RECORD

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., March 10.—(P)—Elinor Smith, 18-year-old aviatrix, today apparently set a new altitude record for women by flying her airplane to a height estimated at 32,000 feet.
She took off in an attempt to better the previous record of 24,000 feet established by the late Marvel Crosson, who was killed in the women's air derby last year. Miss Smith described her experience to the Associated Press in the following words:
"Today was rather warm and hazy and I was rather anxious as to the visibility as I had been told that the winds were so strong above 15,000 feet as to blow one backwards, and, as you may easily guess, I had no wish to be blown out to sea, regardless of my love for swimming."

Motor Freezes at 32,000 Feet.
"I kept climbing in wide, lazy circles, leaving the haze and smoke at about 15,000 feet. From then on it was beautifully clear, and from my lofty perch I could look down through the smoke and see for miles. In fact when I reached my approximate ceiling of 32,000 feet I could see practically all of Long Island far up the Hudson river, New York city, past Sandy Hook and into New Jersey."

"I turned my oxygen on at about 16,000 feet and experienced no unpleasant sensations. I was kept

Dreadful Weakening, Winter Coughs Vanish If You Know How SIMPLE HOME REMEDY DOES THE WORK QUICK

"The awful cold I took last winter hung on and settled in my lungs with a dreadful cough that almost tore my chest apart. My chest was sore even under my armpits. The bronchial tubes were irritated and I was coughing up terrible mucus and felt absolutely ill and weak from it. I had no appetite. Just felt miserable," writes Mrs. Iver T. Johnson, 121 E. Pine Street, Chisholm, Minn.

"The cold tablets did no good and made me doper, so I took a neighbor's advice and got a bottle of Lin-O-Nine Emulsion. Right away it relieved my coughing. My appetite picked up wonderfully and it caused my bronchitis to move more systematically. Really it seemed to affect and relieve the whole system. I felt fine in just a couple of days, so I'm like my neighbor now and always praise Lin-O-Nine," continues Mrs. Johnson, who like thousands of happy people, knows how to banish wintry colds and coughs.

Anyone may obtain the same results. Lin-O-Nine is a nice tasting, creamy, snow white Emulsion of Eucalyptus, Flaxseed, Betula, Cassia, Irish Moss and Glycerine, endorsed by doctors and made by the nationally known, 45-year-old Kerr Chemical Co., who gladly send 50c or $1 bottle return mail if you write them at Brentwood, Md. Many druggists have cold remedies of their own, but gladly obtain Lin-O-Nine for you from their local jobber if you ask the store manager. Avoid substitutes, particularly if it is a child or elderly person with weak or delicate stomach.—(adv.)

Stomach Troubles Headache and Dizziness

If your stomach is sick, you are sick all over. If you can't digest your food, you lose strength, get nervous and feel as tired when you get up as when you went to bed.

For 10 years Tanlac has restored to health and activity thousands who suffered just as you do. For instance, here is a letter from Mr. Nicholas Buynak, who says: "Indigestion was carrying me down at an alarming rate. One time it had me laid up in bed for six weeks. Tanlac has me eating, sleeping, and feeling fine and I don't believe it has an equal."

Let Tanlac do for you what it did for this sufferer. It corrects the most obstinate digestive troubles—relieves gas, pains in the stomach and bowels. It restores appetite, vigor and sound sleep.

Tanlac is made of roots, barks and herbs. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you. Accept no substitute.

Carolina Railway Defies I. C. C. Order

GREENVILLE, S. C., March 10.—(P)—Directors of the Piedmont and Northern railway today ordered its officers to begin construction immediately of a link connecting the railway's line in North Carolina and South Carolina despite refusal of the interstate commerce commission to sanction the project.
At the same time the directors adopted a resolution asserting their intention to extend the railway in North Carolina from Charlotte to Winston-Salem, and Durham. Permission to make this extension has also been denied by the interstate commerce commission.

W. S. Lee, of Charlotte, N. C., president of the railway, an electric line, said after the meeting that construction of the line from Spartanburg, S. C., to Gastonia, N. C., would begin tomorrow. This link would connect the railway's lines in North Carolina and South Carolina.

At present the road has lines from Greenwood, S. C., to Spartanburg, S. C., and from Gastonia, N. C., to Charlotte, N. C.

AN AIRPLANE-TYPE ENGINE WITH THE GREATEST POWER FOR CYLINDER CAPACITY OF ALL AUTOMOTIVE POWER PLANTS

Between August 16th and 17th, 1927, Arthur Goebel flew from Oakland, California to Honolulu. His plane was powered with an air-cooled engine.

Again air-cooling engineering triumphs!

A short time ago Franklin made a sensational announcement. For 1930 all models of the brilliant new Franklin would be powered by an AIRPLANE-TYPE ENGINE. Everywhere this announcement was met with great surprise, then enthusiastic approval.

Franklin progressiveness made it possible. Franklin engineers saw the great forward strides of aviation. They saw, too, the anchoring traditions that were holding back motor car design. The introduction of an airplane-type engine in a motor car is a logical step—one that begins a new era in vastly finer performance—one that definitely places Franklin in the foremost position among modern motor cars.

Popular Support Declared Necessary for Prohibition

Judge Sibley Claims Success of Law Is Dependent Upon United Action of Vast Majority.

Fourteen true bills charging violations of the prohibition laws were returned by the March federal grand jury in session here Monday and a similar number of cases disposed of in the courtroom following the charge of Judge Samuel H. Sibley, which was devoted in the main to a discussion of the question of prohibition and its effect on federal court procedure, in which he declared that in the final analysis it is a "fight against people of wealth and position who finance law-breakers by buying whisky."

"While it is my opinion that the use of alcohol is so harmful as to make it entirely reasonable for the government to forbid its use, the fact remains that it is easy to manufacture whisky and hard to outlaw it," he declared. "It begins to look like law won't do it and I believe it will require the united action of a vast majority of our people. The question resolves itself into one of total abstinence on the part of 90 per cent of the people if prohibition is to become effective."

One Question Omitted. Discussing the Literary Digest nation-wide poll on the subject, Judge Sibley declared that while some value in determining the sentiment of the country but that one important question had been omitted. "Those who vote in favor of prohibition should be asked if they personally are willing to forego the use of intoxicating whisky in all forms," he stated. "If people won't quit drinking there is no use talking about a law to produce this effect."

In concluding his 30-minute talk to the new grand jury he stated that "it is not our duty now to discuss what might be but what is," and ordered them to examine the evidence submitted and return indictments where they were warranted. He commented on the fact that grand juries were originally designed to investigate cases themselves but that under the present situation they had little else to do but consider cases which were brought to their attention.

14 True Bills Found. Completing his day's work shortly before court adjourned Monday afternoon, Foreman C. A. Tappan returned 14 true bills in prohibition cases, two no bills and one indictment charging violation of the motor vehicle theft act.

While these deliberations were in progress the courtroom was the scene of 11 pleas of guilty to charges of violating the prohibition laws and three jury trials of defendants who pleaded not guilty. Two were acquitted and one convicted. Nine defendants drew jail sentences of six months each, Judge Sibley having previously declared that the federal penitentiary was already full. The three remaining were fined amounts ranging from $29 to $100.

In beginning his charge to the jury Judge Sibley commented at some length on the death of two members of the supreme court and the day of Justice Holmes, the oldest member of the body. He stated that while the court might well be suspended as a mark of respect to those who have passed on, he considered it his duty to continue.

Jones Law in Effect. He next took up the question of prohibition as the major problem confronting the federal courts of the nation. He declared that his duties were becoming increasingly complicated due to the multiplicity of criminal matters and offenses against the government.

In regard to this he said in part: "The Jones law has gone into effect since the last grand jury was sworn in and the result of this legislation remains to be seen. The effect on the public is the major point to be considered. It might keep hundreds of people from violating the law but we will have to wait and see. If a penitentiary sentence was absolutely certain to follow all violations there would be fewer violations but it is not certain. There is always the chance of not being caught and of not being convicted if caught."

"On the other hand, if the Jones law appears to the public to be over-severe, there will be fewer reports of violations and fewer violators apprehended. In addition, witnesses will 'raise up' and juries will refuse to convict. In this case, the increased punishment would not be an increased deterrent but more people would take chances. You might, however, think that it is time to try another method after 10 years of giving lighter punishment."

At the last term of court at Gainesville there were approximately 16 acquittals out of 200 cases. About 50 people received penitentiary sentences and as many jail sentences. The remainder were fined. The reaction here was apparently on the side of strict enforcement and the inadvisability of taking a chance.

Doesn't Feel Like Reporting. "It is my opinion that liquor is harmful and that prohibition represents a reasonable action on the part of the government to prevent its use. On the other hand, I personally don't feel like reporting any one for a violation."

"Liquor is easy to make and it is very difficult to stamp it out. It looks like legislation won't do it and I believe it will take the united action of a vast majority of the people in this country to accomplish this end."

"Money is back of the whole fight on prohibition. The farmers in north Georgia make it for money and young boys haul it for money. The law is fighting money and this is the hardest thing in the world to fight. Right will triumph in the end but it will take a long time.

"The source of the money which is used to buy, bribe and bring corruption to many parts of the country is the well to do man who is drinking liquor. The bootleggers didn't have the capital to finance their enterprises at first. They merely found a ready demand and took steps to supply it."

Fight Against Wealth. "In the final analysis then, the law is a fight against men of wealth, position and character. They pay the taxes which are used to finance the courts and the prohibition department and a far greater tax amounting to millions and possibly a billion to keep the bootleggers in business."

"They, then, are indirectly responsible for the violations of the law and force me, no matter how I hate it, to send people from the mountains and from the slums of this city to the penitentiary. It just isn't fair to the judiciary for these people to buy liquor."

"I believe the majority of the people want to get rid of whisky, but it is just like the action of the government in limiting the consumption of wheat bread during the war. People were opposed to this until they were made to realize that it was for the good of the country. Prohibition is also for the good of the country, but it requires the sacrifice of personal observance to make it possible."

SELLERS WILL DIRECT BIBLE MEETING MUSIC

Noted Leader To Arrive Saturday for Conference at Tabernacle.

Ernest O. Sellers, song director for Gipsy Smith and other famous evangelists, will have charge of music at the interdenominational Bible conference to open next Sunday at the Baptist Tabernacle here, it was announced Monday by Dr. Len G. Broughton, pastor.

Professor Sellers, who is now music director of the Baptist Bible Institute at New Orleans, will arrive Saturday to take charge of the large chorus choir and other musical features being arranged for the conference.

Dr. Broughton stated that three speakers of international prominence have been placed on the program for the opening day of the conference, which will continue two weeks through March 30.

The first speaker will be the Rev. J. Alfred Kaye, of London, England, who was associated with Dr. Broughton in the pastorate of Christ church, London, before the World War and who worked with him in the Belgian relief activities of the first year of the war.

Dr. Harry Strachan, missionary to Latin America, will speak at the missionary service at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Dr. John Lake, missionary to China and founder of the leper work for the Chinese, will make his only address during the conference at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Kaye will speak both at 11 o'clock and at 7:30 o'clock the opening Sunday.

Dr. Broughton reported that many ministers and Bible teachers in cities throughout the south have written to him that they will attend the conference this year, as in former years since Dr. Broughton first inaugurated it.

FORD INCREASES LAND HOLDINGS IN GEORGIA

Detroit Magnate Purchases Famous Plantation Near Savannah.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 10.—(AP) Henry Ford today has available 25,000 acres in Georgia farm land for use in aiding Thomas A. Edison's rubber making experiments from gold-enrod.

The purchase of the famous old Vallambrosia plantation, 14 miles west of Savannah, with its 4,000 to 5,000 acres, was announced today. The sales price was not made public but J. B. Budeau, from whom the place was purchased, recently valued the property at $150,000.

The plantation fronts for five miles along the Ogeechee river, directly opposite Mr. Ford's vast holdings in Bryan county, in the goldenrod country, where Mr. Edison's experiments are now in progress.

The residence at Vallambrosia is about 100 years old and one of the Postoffice Robbed Of Approximately $81

CEDARTOWN, Ga., March 10. The postoffice at Eson Hill was robbed Sunday night of approximately $81. None of the stock or money order forms were taken.

The postoffice is located in the store of Cecil Griffith, who is postmaster. Postoffice Inspector McKew made an investigation Monday.

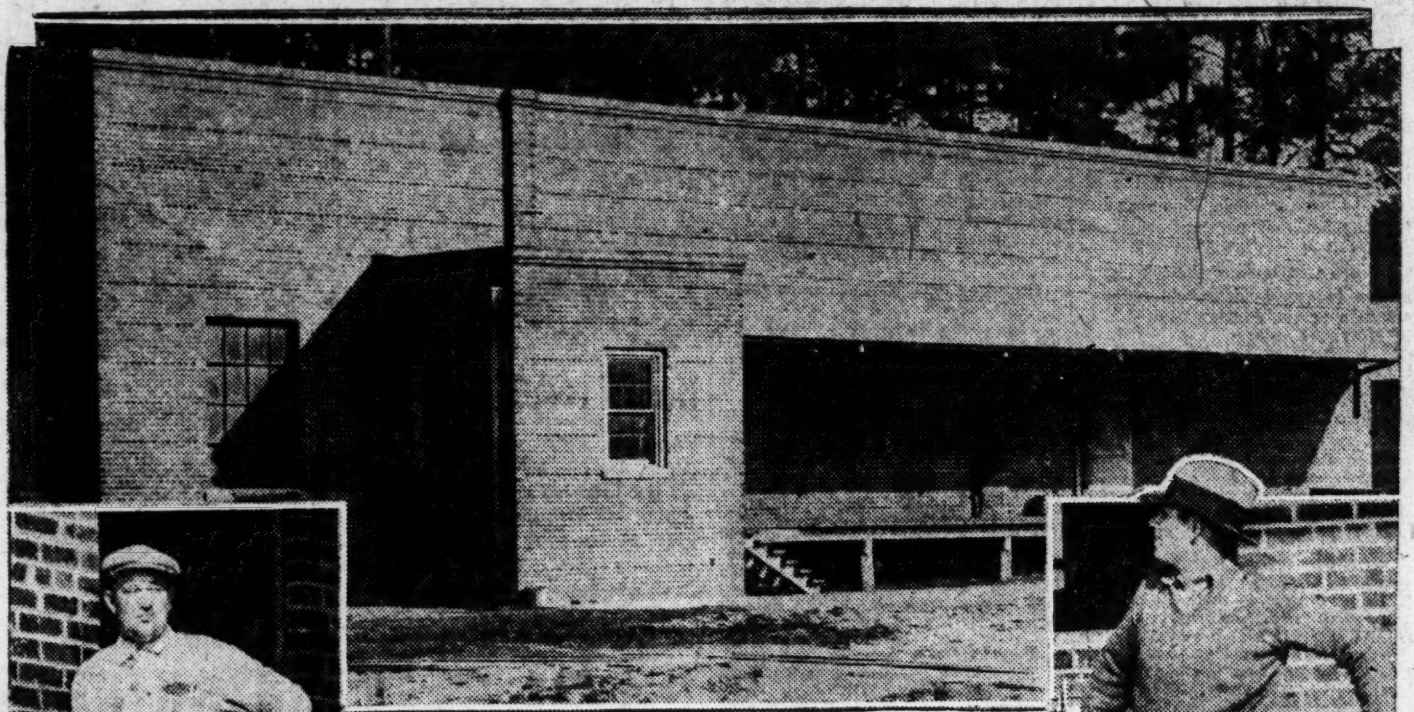

The robbers also entered the store of J. S. Moore and secured some money.

finest plantation homes in Georgia's coastal region. In addition to the house a spacious barn, a large brick packing house and private railroad siding adds to its value.

Several thousand acres of the place are now in a high state of cultivation. An orange grove, pear orchard and about 20 acres of pecan trees are also a part of the property.

The plantation is known along the coast as a sportsman's paradise. Hunting for birds is excellent with quail, dove and snipe abundant, and an occasional deer is shot. There are four large canals and three smaller ones on the property, filled with rock fish and black bass.

Here's Typical South Georgia Refrigeration Plant Which Has Made Myth of Hog Killing Time

By Ed Danforth.

Hog killing time is a myth now in south Georgia.

Hog killing weather is a tradition. Scurrying about at the crack of dawn to break the farm out of the grip of frost and kill the hogs before it turned warm is just a memory.

They kill hogs any time now. Whenever it is convenient, they slaughter a porker and never glance at the thermometer on the back porch.

The web of electric power wires caught the old custom and it has died. Refrigerating plants have sprung up in every municipality that boasted two or three young men with a little capital and courage. Hogs are killed when needed. The hams, side meat, back bones, spare ribs, sausage, shoulders are carried to the cold storage plant and left there. A side of bacon is withdrawn when needed, the next month, the next year. Progress has erased from the calendar an event that is as old as General Oglethorpe.

Police Committee Named To Award Constitution Medal

MACON, Ga., March 10.—(AP)—A committee to name the Georgia peace officer performing the most meritorious service during 1929 was selected here today by Ben T. Watkins, president of the Georgia State Sheriff and Peace Officers' Association. Watkins is also chief of the Macon police department.

The selection will be made on the first day of the annual convention of the association, to be held in Carrollton in June. The winning officer will be presented with a medal and $100 by The Atlanta Constitution.

Officers interested in receiving the award are asked by the president to mail their records of service from June 31 of last year to May 31, 1930, to Chief Watkins, who will forward such records to the committee.

Big Enterprise.

The Rochelle Ice and Cold Storage Company has a plant that is typical of the ones that have been established at McRae, Cordele, Ocala, Fitzgerald and Hawkinsville. It was built by C. E. Richey and C. D. Crumme. They are the sole owners and showed a handsome profit the first year. They handled 100,000 pounds of meat last season in addition to their ice business. It is no small enterprise.

A distinctive feature of the Rochelle plant is the "dry" storage effect created by having the refrigerating pipes overhead. In this way meat keeps indefinitely. Another innovation is a modern smoke house where meat is smoked for a few with oak logs. This may eventually wipe the smoke house off the premises—or turn it into a corner crib to care for the increasing size of the hogpens.

Meat is brought into the Rochelle plant. It is tagged with a zinc metal bearing the customer's number and washed in a heated vat. It then is treated for curing and stored in specially built bins. It may be withdrawn at any time on demand of the owner. Some of the meat now on storage has been there nearly two years, with no signs of deterioration.

Backbones and hams are stored without salting and when withdrawn and served are as toothsome as the day they were killed.

Reasonable Rate.

The rate for curing meat is reasonable. A salt cure of six weeks costs 21-2 cents a pound; if washed and

State Deaths And Funerals

MRS. O. T. FOSSETT.

JACKSON, Ga., March 10.—The death of Mrs. O. T. Fossett, 75, one of Jackson's best known women, occurred at her home on Indian Springs street early Monday morning. Death followed a long illness and a period of ill health extending over several months. Mrs. Fossett is survived by two sons, John Fossett, who resides in Sacramento, Cal., and Will Fossett, Jr., a sister, Mrs. L. E. Cason, of Toombsboro, and several nieces and nephews.

The body will be carried to Toombsboro, her former home, where funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, with interment in the family lot.

JIM G. LEVERETT.

MACON, Ga., March 10.—Jim G. Leverett, 72, well-known farmer of Houston county, died today at his home near Byron, Ga., after an illness of nine weeks.

THOMAS M. HAYGOOD.

GOGGINS, Ga., March 10.—Funeral services for Captain Thomas M. Haygood, 80, for more than 20 years a resident of this place, were held at the Methodist church Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. A. Spradberry, pastor. Captain Haygood had been in feeble health for some months.

Captain Haygood was one of the most extensive farmers in this section of the country, but after the death of his wife, who was Miss Cordelia Farley, he broke up housekeeping and went to reside with his children. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. T. L. Farley, of Thomaston; Mrs. W. A. Leber, of Barrow; and Mrs. J. K. Zellner, Forsyth, and two sons, Floyd L. Haygood, Miller, and F. P. Haygood, Thomaston. Following the funeral services, the body was carried to the Barrowville cemetery and placed by the side of his wife.

MRS. TENNIE C. CHURCHWELL.

MACON, Ga., March 10.—Blood poisoning developing from injuries sustained in a fall several weeks ago caused the death Sunday night of Mrs. Tennie C. Churchwell, 57, of Wellston, Ga. She was the wife of J. D. Churchwell.

MRS. W. F. MATHEWS.

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 10.—Funeral services for Mrs. W. F. Mathews were held from the Oak Creek church Sunday. Mrs. Mathews died after an illness of more than a year. She is survived by her husband, a son, four daughters, four sisters and a brother.

C. R. MCGRORY.

ELLAVILLE, Ga., March 10.—The funeral of C. R. McGrory, former state senator, who died suddenly Saturday, will be held at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon (central time) at the Methodist church, Barrow, Ga. The pallbearers will be Mr. T. W. Wilson, W. A. Murray, Carl C. Wall, Eugene Dixon, J. H. Robinson and C. C. Williamson.

MRS. O. C. JOHNSON.

AMERICUS, Ga., March 10.—Mrs. O. C. Johnson died at her home here Sunday night, following a series of paralytic strokes during the day. Funeral services will be held from the Johnson residence on South Jackson street here Wednesday morning and interment will be in Oak Grove cemetery. Mrs. Johnson is survived by her husband, Ott C. Johnson; two sons, Otis Prather Johnson, of Americus, and James C. Johnson, of New York city; a daughter, Mrs. E. F. Demorest, of Starke, Fla.; a sister, Mrs. Alice Kemp, of Miami, Fla.; and three brothers, C. D. Lavender and C. Lavender, of Macon, and C. C. Lavender, of Worthington, Ohio.

LAVARRE-HALL RECORD CONTAINS 750,000 WORDS

MACON, Ga., March 10.—(AP)—Local counsel for William J. Lavarre, South Carolina newspaper publisher, this afternoon tendered to Judge Bassom S. Deaver, in Columbus, Ga., for his certification, a completed record of the case between Lavarre and Harold Hall, covering the hearing here last September.

FLAGMAN, CONDUCTOR BLAMED FOR WRECK

Three-Day Inquiry of Crash of Seminole Trains Ends at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 10.—(AP) Blame for the wreck of the Seminole Limited, Florida to Chicago express train, near here last Friday, was placed tonight on O. C. White, flagman, and J. W. Grider, conductor of the first section of the train, by Claude Baldwin, superintendent of the Columbus division of the Central of Georgia railroad.

White lost his life and Grider was injured when the locomotive of the second section of the train collided with the rear end of the first section, telescoping the observation car of the first section. More than 30 persons, most of them passengers, were injured in the wreck.

Mr. Baldwin placed the responsibility following a three-day inquiry of the crash. He said that the flagman of the first section should have lighted fuses at Ellaville and Buena Vista, where the train had stopped, to keep the second at a safe distance behind the first section.

Mr. Baldwin blamed the conductor "for not seeing that the flagman was doing his duty." Grider now is confined to his home with his injuries.

The superintendent said further that a reprimand "probably will be administered to C. M. Temple, engineer of the first section, for failure to blow a signal that he was slowing for a fuse lighted by a section foreman."

CLARKE COUNTY NEGRO CONFESSES SHOOTING

ATHENS, Ga., March 10.—John Robinson, one of the negroes held in the Clarke county jail for the attempted murder of H. B. Herring, nightwatchman of the Southeastern Compress Company here, has confessed to shooting Herring, according to county officers. Mr. Herring was mysteriously shot on the night of February 21. His condition is not considered serious.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchopneumonia, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

ANNOUNCING

THE CLEANER ALREADY FIRST IN DIRT REMOVAL NOW BECOMES 25% MORE EFFICIENT!

There is a new Hoover. It so far outranks anything previously offered that it can truthfully be said to be the finest portable electric cleaning machine ever made. Its extraordinary efficiency can only be shown by a comparison with all electric cleaners which have gone before it.

Of these electric cleaners, the one offering the swiftest, easiest, most thorough cleaning, the one ranking first in efficiency by its ability to remove the most dirt per minute, is the recent Hoover.

The new and greater Hoover exceeds that Hoover in its dirt-removing efficiency by 25%!

Telephone us for a trial or home demonstration of this new Hoover, Model 725. There is also a greatly improved new popular-priced Hoover. Only $6.25 down, including dusting tools; balance monthly. Liberal allowance for your old cleaner.

An Extraordinary Feature of the new model Hoovers is the optional use of the Hygienic, a new sanitary dust bag, combining the filtering qualities of cloth with the reasonable cost of paper. The Hygienic is so stout that it will last for many cleanings—until the bag is worn or soiled. Then you simply detach and burn it with the dust.

GEORGIAN IS TAILED FOR SHOOTING WIFE

Otis Floyd, of Willie, Ga., Claims Gun Accidentally Discharged.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 10.—(AP) Otis Floyd, in jail for the shooting of his wife in front of their home at Willie, Ga., Sunday, gave conflicting accounts of the affair to authorities today. It was said at the sheriff's office.

In two accounts, officers said, Floyd claimed the shot was fired accidentally. In the first statement, officers stated, Floyd said he was taking the gun from the car parked across the road from where Mrs. Nannie Floyd, his wife, was standing when the gun discharged accidentally.

Later he related that he was drinking heavily and could not remember much of what happened other than that he had the gun and his wife was taking it away from him.

Officers quoted Floyd as saying, "She had the baby in her arms at the time and I said I would take the gun. In the snatch back the gun went off accidentally."

Following the shooting Sunday, Mrs. Floyd was brought to a Savannah hospital, where physicians said Monday her condition was critical. She was shot in the legs. Her husband was lodged in jail under a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Sheriff M. F. Clark of Liberty county, who brought Floyd and his wife here, said the shooting was occasioned by jealousy of the husband because his wife went riding with another man against his wishes. Floyd is a guard at the Liberty county convict camp.

School Professor Is Killed in Mill

FORSYTH, Ga., March 10.—(AP) Professor W. D. Thurmond, 50, for many years principal of the Forsyth High school, was found dead Monday in the machinery of his grist mill.

Members of the family who found his badly mangled body said he had evidently been attempting to oil the machinery when he was caught in a whirling shaft. He was alone at the mill at the time of the accident.

Professor Thurmond retired from school service several years ago, but continued to take an interest in all matters affecting the educational affairs of Forsyth.

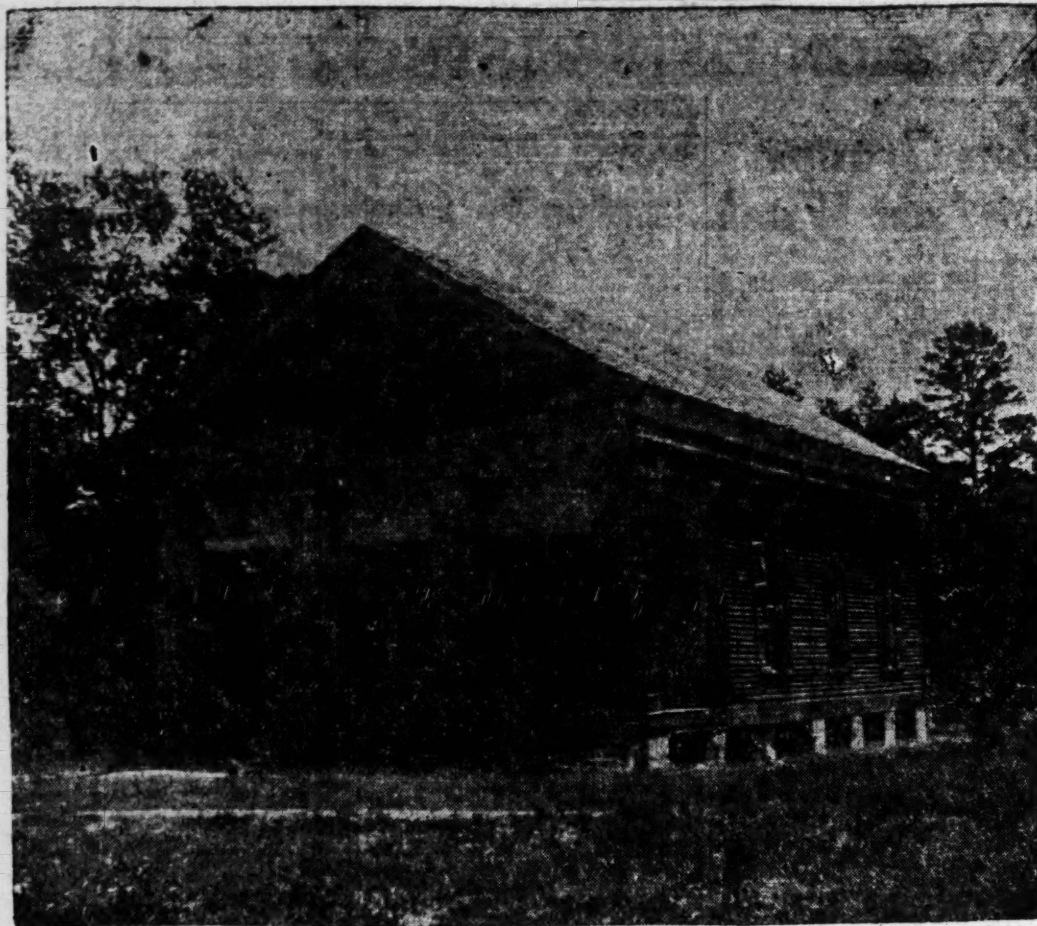

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Clarke Bush, of Athens, and a number of brothers and sisters.

Aids Census Work.

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 10.—(AP) H. R. Green, chief special agent of the census bureau, is in Columbus assisting in organizing and beginning work of gathering data on manufacturing and distribution.

Green will aid Joseph Jacobs and Prere Walton in taking the local distribution and manufacturers census. Jacobs and Walton were appointed by Charles M. Young, census supervisor for the tenth Georgia district.

Legion Will Put in Repair "Old Church" Presented by George III to Georgia Colonists

WAYNESBORO, Ga., March 10.—

The Burke Light Infantry Post was appointed trustee of Old Church, Burke county, by the legislature of 1927. This was done so that the legion might take steps to preserve this building which is one of the most historic in the county. Judge G. C. Anderson, post commander of the Burke Light Infantry post recently recounted some of the history of Old Church, in his discussion of plans for the biggest celebration ever to be held in the county. Mrs. Rosa McMaster, prominent U. D. C. and D. A. R. worker in the county and in the state was present and gave her ideas of an appropriate observance of the day. She outlined a plan of work and promised the Burke Legionnaires her fullest co-operation.

William Hillhouse, commander of the Burke post, then called on a number of those present to say something about the program. Major Cliff Hatcher, one of the past commanders, urged that the building be repaired and made one of the show places of the county. He was a member of the Burke delegation in the house when the Legion was appointed trustee for the church. T. J. Lancer, Willis Howard, Mr. Charles Evans, Mrs. Frank Brinson were called on by the commander for suggestions about the day.

It was also agreed that a memorial edition of the Waynesboro True Citizen featuring Old Church, should be issued for Memorial Day, May 30. Committees were appointed to make up this edition of the Citizen and a finance and a program committee were also appointed. Old Church was given by grant of King George III, to a group of colonists for religious worship; it was given in the custody of the Burke Light Infantry post by the Georgia legislature in 1927. It has been at one time or another Episcopal, Presbyterian or Methodist church. Some of the leaders of Georgia Methodism preached from its pulpit and it is one of the few church buildings in the state or in the south that still has a gallery for the slaves.

The legion will begin its plans at once for the biggest attendance ever gathered in the county on May 30. Old Church is eight miles south of Waynesboro on the Savannah road.

Purse, Lost 8 Years, Returned to Owner

MACON, Ga., March 10.—(AP) A pocketbook, which is said to have contained $84 when lost in Lyons, Ga., eight years ago, has been returned to George T. Brown, of this city, its owner, but the $84 has dwindled to $0.

He reported, the purse was returned by way of the dead letter office.

C.H. Tribble Dead Of Bullet Wound

FORSYTH, Ga., March 10.—Clark H. Tribble, 34, was found dead in his room at a local rooming house about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Circumstances surrounding his death indicated that he had shot himself a few minutes earlier with a pistol, the bullet entering his body near the heart.

Mr. Tribble was a World War veteran and since his discharge from service his health had been bad. For the past week he had been confined to his room. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon from the residence of James A. Tribble and interment will be in the Forsyth cemetery.

Mr. Tribble is survived by his mother, Mrs. J. J. Tribble, of Forsyth; one sister, Mrs. Paul Marcure, of Great Falls, Montana; a half brother, James A. Tribble, of Forsyth, and a half sister, Mrs. Norman, of New York city.

Indicted Man Sits on Jury.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 10.—(AP)—City Councilman J. F. Grammer is sitting on a Richmond superior court jury the same week he is scheduled to go on trial on a robbery charge.

He was indicted several weeks ago for taking part in the robbery of a cigar store from the firm by which he is employed as a shipping clerk.

Today he was called for service on one of the juries which will hear this week's calendar and sat in judgment in a forgery case.

Artillery Units Inspected.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 10.—(AP) Colonel F. C. Doyle, U. S. A., D. O. L., began the federal inspections tonight of the 118th field artillery units here, with Battery E as the first one to undergo the test.

Inspections will continue each day this week through Friday and also during next week. On March 24 Battery A, the only unit of the regiment out of Savannah and stationed in Waynesboro, Ga., will be the last one inspected. Tomorrow night regimental headquarters, Colonel W. R. Neal commanding, will be inspected.

FINAL RITES HELD FOR MRS. HUDGINS

MACON, Ga., March 10.—(AP)—Western girls, members of the faculty and former students, paid final tribute this afternoon to Mrs. Harriet Hudgings, who for 21 years had been dietitian at the institution. The funeral was held in the grand parlor, with two former presidents, Bishop W. A. Ainsworth and Dr. C. R. Jenkins, and the present president, Dr. W. F. Quillian, conducting the services.

After two of her favorite hymns were sung, a group of negro servants of the college, whom Mrs. Hudgings knew personally, sang negro spirituals.

Local trustees present and who acted as honorary pallbearers were: W. R. Rogers, Jr., C. B. Lewis, James H. Porter, O. A. Park, Mrs. S. T. Coleman and Mrs. W. D. Anderson. Other honorary pallbearers were: Professor Lewis G. Thomas, Professor E. E. Towner, Professor J. E. McKellar, Professor C. W. Bruce, Professor

Horseback Riding Popular in Georgia

THOMASVILLE, Ga., March 10.—It is more than a decade since horseback riding has been so popular in the Thomasville section, as it is at the present time. Devotees of this sport are almost all young people, and they are seen riding at all hours of the day. A number have their private mounts, while several strings of horses and ponies, for hire, are to be located in and about the town. There are excellent opportunities for riding here, undisturbed by the motor vehicles.

FT. BENNING OFFICER DIES AFTER WRECK

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 10.—(AP) Master Sergeant William B. Morris of Fort Benning, died today in the post hospital from a fractured skull and internal injuries.

The sergeant was found early yesterday morning in his wrecked automobile on the road to Benning from Columbus. The discovery was made by Private James Dyches, who said the sergeant was crumpled in the floor of his automobile under the steering wheel. He was attracted to the machine by his groans.

The auto was upright, Dyches said. The private told officers at the post that the front tire of the machine exploded, causing the car to leave the road and go into a ditch.

A board of officers of the post are investigating the death of the sergeant, who was in army 25 years and at the time of his death an instructor at the infantry school. An autopsy is also being held.

Morris is survived by his widow and one son, George M. Morris, employed at Benning. He is a native of Kansas City, Mo.

GEORGIAN IS SLAIN BY MOULTRIE OFFICER

MOULTRIE, Ga., March 10.—(AP) B. A. Lovett, 35, of Norman Park, near here, was shot and killed last night by John Beard, marshal of Norman Park, officers here reported today.

Lovett was slain, Moultrie officers say, only after he attacked Beard with a knife and drew the latter several cuts during a fight with another man. The marshal was cut while seeking to separate the combatants.

WAYCROSS TRIO HELD ON ASSAULT CHARGE

WAYCROSS, Ga., March 10.—Royal Johns, Oscar Johns and Gordon Johns, three brothers charged with an assault on Morris Smith, in which the latter's throat was slashed, have been bound over to justice's court under bond of $1,300 each.

Each defendant was bound over to city court for misdemeanor, bond being assessed at $300, and a superior court for a felony, bond being assessed at $1,000.

Smith, who was arrested on a warrant by the Johns brothers, also was given a commitment hearing and was released.

LANKFORD SUPPORTS U. S. FARM LOAN BILL

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 10.—W. C. Lankford, representative in congress from the eleventh district, has replied to the chamber of commerce and other organizations here that he will favor the organized rural communities bill.

This bill has been favorably reported by both the house and senate committees and when it came out of the house committee Mr. Lankford was reported to have proposed an amendment providing for reclamation of swamp lands and cutover lands.

Farm and business interests in this city and section urged Mr. Lankford by wire to desist from this effort and help in the passage of the rural communities bill. His reply has been received in which he agrees to render every assistance possible to the bill as already reported from both committees.

The bill provides for government long-time loans in several southern states to farmers seeking to buy farms.

Senator M. C. Quillian and Dr. Samuel L. Akers.

AUGUSTA GAS RATES SCORED IN PETITION

Injunction To Restrain Commission From Enforcing Sale Is Sought.

Injunction proceedings against the Georgia public service commission to restrain the enforcement of the new schedule of gas rates for Augusta will be heard this morning in the United States district court.

The petition for an injunction was filed Monday by the Georgia Public Utilities Company, which serves Augusta with gas. Should a temporary injunction be issued in federal court this morning, the case later will be heard before a court of three United States district judges, James A. Perry, chairman of the public service body, said Monday.

In its petition asking the injunction the company set up a schedule of rates, asking that it be fixed by the court to apply during the course of the litigation. The schedule, it was said at the commission, was the same as that asked by the company when the commission was considering the matter of a new schedule for Augusta several weeks ago.

The schedule requested by the company would charge $1.50 net for the first 220 cubic feet of gas; $1.45 per 1,000 net for the next 2,500 cubic feet; and $1.25 per 1,000 net for all in excess of 3,000 cubic feet. Commenting on the proposed rate, Mr. Perry said that it contained a "hidden service charge."

The rate under attack was established by the public service commission about a week ago in proceedings brought under its own initiative.

Trial of Colquitt Trio Is Resumed

COLQUITT, Ga., March 10.—(AP) The defense continued its parade of witnesses today in attempts to establish alibi for Joe Albritton, Clarence Bush and Charley Albritton, on trial for the slaying of Jeff Davis, Miller county farmer.

Twenty-four witnesses so far have testified that the accused trio were not on Davis' farm at the time he was shot to death. The defense indicated today that as many more witnesses remain to be called to the stand.

Two negroes, also indicted for the slaying, the farmer, alone in the field several months ago, have testified and pointed to the accused white men as Davis' slayers.

WALKER DAIRYMEN TO MEET WEDNESDAY

LAFALETTE, Ga., March 10.—The Walker County Dairy Association will meet next Wednesday afternoon at the community house at LaFayette, when the principal topic will be the elimination of the scrub bulls from the county and replacing them with pure-bred sires. Committees will be appointed and a drive launched for this purpose. W. S. Knox, president, and R. E. Davis, county agent, will be in charge of the work.

Way to Get At a Cold Is Through the Bowels

As soon as you catch cold, the pores close; perspiration is checked. Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like Cascarets. Medical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowels muscles. You get cascades in its most pleasant form in candy Cascarets.

Remember this when you catch cold; whenever breath is bad; tongue coated; or you're headachy, bilious, constipated.

Why resort to harsher things when Cascarets activate the bowels so quickly, so harmlessly and pleasantly and cost only a dime?—(adv.)

BLOOD WILL TELL

"Diagnosis is not guess work. Only a good doctor aided by a scientific laboratory can say what your trouble is. Turn a deaf ear to well-meaning friends who try to tell you what ails you. Don't stake your future on a guess."

Only a Thorough Examination Will Reveal Your True Condition

GALL BLADDER and stomach troubles are the forerunners to many serious ailments. Gallstones, many cases of high blood pressure, nearly all renal diseases are from faulty action of the digestive tract.

Many cases of fatal heart bloc are from intestinal and stomach poisons. Cancer is believed by many to be due to an intestinal ferment. The low blood pressure of tuberculosis and catarrhal troubles have an early history of hyperacidity, and so on through a long list of diseases. Do not neglect yourself.

Dr. Register's Health Service offers you the advantage of many years of successful practice in the treatment of the stomach, nervous system, kidneys, the blood, rheumatism, high or low blood pressure and diseases of men and women. A fully equipped up-to-date medical establishment occupying the entire second floor.

Complete Examination, including a Microscopic X-ray. Physical Examination, Blood Pressure Test, Microscopic and Chemical Analysis of Urine, Sputum and Pathological Secretion. Consultation and advice without cost or obligation.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 10 points down at 13.95.

Receipts, 200; shipments, 96; stocks, 100,237.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(AP)—

Rallies from a decline on trade buying and covering were followed by renewed weakness in the cotton market today, with prices on some positions making new records for the season late in the afternoon and liquidation promoted by the decline in which May contracts advanced from 14.11 to 14.42, broke to 14.03 in the late trading, or 17 points below Saturday's closing quotation. They closed at 14.10 with the general market closing steady at net

declines of 9 to 17 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 3 points to a decline of 6 points. There have been some buying on relatively steady cables, but reports of increased higher sales for February are compared with last year brought in which sent prices off to 14.32 for

March and 14.10 for October contracts. This decline seemed to attract some trade buying and the market stiffened up on covering which was probably covered by under selling which seemed to be driven partly from New Orleans and Liverpool.

Early buyers were credited with reselling in the last hour when

March declined to 13.90, July to 14.25 and October to 14.30, or 16 to 17 points lower. May and January contracts, however, advanced to 14.32 and 14.10, respectively.

The demand for the new contracts reached new records in the late trading and the selling at 14.20 in the afternoon was relatively more active than recently with some of the selling attributed to reports of crop preparations were well up to or ahead of this time last year.

Sales of fertilizer tags for the months of February and March were reported 31.3 per cent larger than for February last year, but 3.7

per cent smaller than for February, 1929.

Liverpool cables reported continental and Bombay buying, but said that buyers of cotton cloths and yarns were not active.

Exports today, 3,500, making 5,

576,720 so far this season. Port receipts, 6,000. United States port stocks, 2,047,162.

SPOTS FLUCTUATE

AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, March 10.—(AP)—

The cotton market was nervous and erratic today, with frequent wide fluctuations in fairly active trading.

Liverpool cables were much better than due, but opening prices were not a point higher with only 4 to 6 points. Prices promptly dropped 12 to 13 points after the start owing to overnight selling orders, but as soon as these offerings were absorbed the market rallied rather briskly on covering by shorts, gaining 28 to 31 points from the low.

This gain was not maintained,

however, as in the late trading,

owing to fears of bearish textile statistics for February, prices made new lows, 23 to 25 points below 7 points at the end on covering. May, after trading at 13.80, rallied 31 points to 14.17, and then declined 35 points to 13.82 and closed at 13.80, net five points down for the day. The general

market closed steady at net

declines of 5 to 10 points.

As soon as these offerings were absorbed prices rallied sharply on shorts covering, May advancing to 14.17, July to 14.35 and

October to 14.30, or 28 to 31 points up from the low. This advance was not maintained,

however, as prices eased off in the late trading, owing to fears of bearish textile statistics for February, prices made new lows, 23 to 25 points below 7 points at the end on covering.

May, after trading at 13.80,

Your Income Tax

Up-to-date information and instructions concerning the income tax collected by the United States government. Who pays it; why, where, how and when.

Bad debts constitute a considerable item in the returns of many taxpayers and may be treated in one of two ways—either by deduction from gross income in respect to debts ascertained to be worthless in whole or in part or by reduction from a reasonable reserve for bad debts.

Permission to adopt the reserve method is limited to taxpayers having a large number of accounts where credit has been extended to cover a considerable portion of time. It is not granted for the purpose of handling one specific debt.

What constitutes a "reasonable addition" to a reserve for bad debts must be determined in light of the facts, and will vary as between classes of business and with conditions of business prosperity. A taxpayer using the reserve method should show in his return the volume of charge sales (or other business transactions) for the year, and the percentage of the reserve to such amount, the total amount of notes and accounts receivable at the beginning and end of the taxable year, and the total amount of debts ascertained to be worthless and charged against the reserve during the taxable year.

Coca-Cola StockQuickens Stride

Eclipsing Saturday's close by 5 7-8 points, Coca-Cola common stock, Monday on the New York Stock Exchange, closed at 153 3-8, a new high peak for 1930. The year's low was 133 1-4.

The stock now exhibits a gain of 57 7-8 points over the price during the October-November crash of the market.

New York financial circles hear the rumor that the stock, within the next few months will reach even higher peaks, due to increasing domestic and foreign business, the astute management of the organization, by Robert F. Woodruff, its president, and its attraction as an investment.

The company recently increased common dividends from a $4 to $6 annual basis. Reports for 1929 showed record-breaking earnings and gross business volume. The stock has been in continual demand lately, but offerings have proved scant.

EXCHANGES TO CLOSEAS HONOR TO TAFT

NEW YORK, March 10.—(AP)—The board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange today announced that the exchange would close at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow in memory of former Chief Justice William Howard Taft. The regular closing time is 3 o'clock.

The New York Curb Exchange will also close at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow instead of 3 o'clock.

Later it was announced that the New York Coffee-Sugar Exchange, the New York Produce Exchange, will close at 12:30 p. m., and that trading by the Unlisted Security Dealers' Association and the Association of Bank Stock Dealers will cease at that hour.

SPRING DAYS IN ATLANTA ATTRACT MANY VISITORS

Luncheons, Series Teas Honor Former Atlantans

Enjoying the first real spring days in Atlanta are a number of prominent visitors who are being extensively entertained at a number of social affairs during their visits. Many of these visitors are en route to their homes after spending the gay winter months at various places of interest in Florida. Others who are being entertained are former residents of Atlanta and are being honored by their many friends at various social courtesies. Mrs. Homer Thompson and children, Homer, Jr., and Lucy Medlin, of Galveston, Texas, have arrived in Atlanta to visit Mrs. Thompson's father, Asa G. Candler, and her mother, Mrs. Metta Thompson. A series of parties are being planned in honor of Mrs. Thompson, among which is the luncheon to be given tomorrow by Mrs. William Warren, Jr., at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard Candler, on Briarcliff road. Mrs. Asa G. Candler entertains at luncheon Wednesday, March 19, at her home, "Briarcliff Manor," on Briarcliff road, complementing Mrs. Thompson. Mrs. Edgar Chambers, Jr., will be among others to honor Mrs. Thompson during the stay here.

Mrs. Gustav Erbe, of Rochester, N. Y., formerly Miss Nell Sims, will be honor guest today at a luncheon to be given by Mrs. Charlotte Meador Fletcher at her home on Fourteenth street. Mrs. Edward Friendly, of New York, the guest of her mother, Mrs. Clark Howell, will be entertained at a bridge-tea at which Mrs. Oscar Davis will be hostess. Former Governor and Mrs. John Marshall Slaton will be hosts this evening at a buffet supper at their home in Wingfield, on Peachtree road in compliment to their guests, Miss Elizabeth Knapp and Mrs. Valeria Longcloth, of New York. Many other parties will be given in honor of popular brides-elect and attractive visitors.

A large affair of this evening will be the "Greater Atlanta Ball" to be given at the ballroom of the new Shrine mosque under the auspices of the West End Woman's Club. The ball will be given in honor of the mayor and the commissioners of Greater Atlanta.

Miss Talbot Weds Frederick H. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Talbot, of New York city, former residents of Kirkwood, in Atlanta, announce the marriage of their daughter, Katharine Mary, to Frederick Heizer Wright, of New Dorp, Staten Island, Tuesday, February 25.

West End Baptists Auxiliary Meets.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the West End Baptist church observed the week of prayer for home missions March 2-7 with each of the five divisions of the auxiliary taking part. The Girls' Auxiliary, composed of young girls under 15, conducted an interesting meeting Thursday. The meeting was opened with the G. A. song, sung by 14 little girls holding letters which spelled Girls' Auxiliary. The devotion was given by the G. A. president, Miss Kathryn Dilbeck, followed by prayer by Margaret Wakefield. "How Abraham Lincoln Helped a Little Girl Earn Her First Missionary Money" was read by Bernadine Lynch. "The Open Door," "The Big Chief Gives Himself," "Pioneers," "Mission Stations," "The Rainbow a Circle," and "A Millionaire Maid" were given by Misses Nell White, Marguerite Gamrel, Yvonne Lynch, Martha Claire Lynch, Doris Gambrel and Bernadine Lynch, respectively. "Americans All" was given by Mrs. G. H. Howard after which the twenty-third Psalm was repeated by the G. A. leader and 33 girls. Mrs. Norman Poole offered the closing prayer.

Mrs. Rogers Honors Mrs. Gustav Erbe.

Mrs. Harold Rogers was hostess at luncheon yesterday at her home on Argonne drive, complementing Mrs. Gustav Erbe, of Rochester, N. Y., the guest of Mrs. William McKenzie. The guests included Mesdames Erbe, McKenzie, Ed Upton, Duncan Owens, Rena Dowling, Ryburn Clay, Richard Hardwick, John Hopkins and Walter Lane.

Mrs. Walden Returns To Augusta, Ga.

Mrs. Ada Ramp Walden has returned to her home in Augusta, having attended the meeting of the County Historians of Georgia held last Saturday at Rhodes Memorial hall, and took part in the round table discussion, led by Miss Ruth Blair, relative to the work.

Mrs. Walden has been asked to write a history of Richmond county, which she will begin immediately, and it is already assumed that under her skilled pen, and with her very pronounced historical ability, coupled with her skill as a writer, that the history of Richmond county will be among the outstanding ones of Georgia. Mrs. Walden, it is also understood, is getting together for compilation a group of southern dialect stories, such as she only can write, and

Exhibit of Handcraft in Metals Will Open Today at High Museum

Objects of exquisite workmanship and design are included in the exhibition of handcraft in metals by Mrs. W. McLellan Edson, of Tiger, which goes on view today at the High Museum of Art, 1262 Peachtree street, of which Lewis P. Skidmore is director. Mrs. Edson is widely known here and her exhibition will be of interest to numbers who appreciate her achievements in this branch of art.

The exhibition of the Georgia Association of Artists, which includes the work of Atlantans and the most widely known Georgia artists, was formally opened to the public yesterday with a tea given by the Beaux Arts group of the museum, of which Mrs. Henry B. Scott is chairman. The show, which includes 86 pictures in oil, water color, pencil, besides block prints and miniatures, represents the work of artists from all sections of the state.

Among the Atlantans whose work is on view are: Thomas Delbridge, Cornelia Cunningham, Mrs. Frances Lee Turner, and Marjorie Conant Bush-Brown. Other well-known Georgia artists represented are: Christopher Murphy, of Savannah; Mrs. Maxfield Parrish, of St. Simon's Island, who acted as judges for the exhibition; Edward S. Shorter, of Macon, first vice president of the association; Mrs. Mary Comer Lane, of Savannah, president, and Miss Lucile Nichols, of Savannah, secretary.

Swannanoa Camp Fire Girls of Decatur To Meet Near Indian Medicine Shop

DECATUR, Ga., March 10.—The Camp Fire Girls of Swannanoa group, Mrs. J. Howell Green, guardian, will work on the requirements for the national birthday honor, "Indian Lore," at the next meeting, which will be held today in a historical log house owned by Lanier Billups, on Clairmont avenue, in Decatur. The house, which is about 100 years old, is the original home of Mr. Billups' great-grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Chapman Powell. A few hundred yards from this house is the granite marker pointing out the site of Dr. Powell's "medicine shop," on the Shawford Indian trail. Here the Indians came to trade with the white people and to be treated by Dr. Powell. When Mr. Billups' parents built their present home, which is on the site of the old home of his great-grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Powell, he tore down this log house and carefully marked each log, and rebuilt it in the rear of the home which his family now occupies. It is now surrounded by the beautiful flower gardens of his mother, Mrs. A. F. Billups, and is appropriately used to house his large collection of Indian relics.

Seminary Alumnae Meets Wednesday.

The Washington Seminary Alumnae Association meets Wednesday, March 12, at 3 o'clock in the parlors of the seminary, with the president, Miss Ellen Newell, presiding. It is very important that all members of the alumnae attend, whether officially affiliated with the association or not. Plans will be perfected concerning the large benefit bridge to be sponsored at the seminary Friday afternoon, March 21. Miss Newell is general chairman for the affair and has as her co-chairman Mrs. Robert Whitley, formerly Miss Annie Lane Newell. Miss Newell will also have charge of the card tables. Miss Florence Perkins and Miss Alice Downing, members of the teachers' staff at the seminary, as well as of the alumnae, are chairmen of the sale of tickets at the school and the prizes. Publicity will be handled by Miss Yolande Gwin. Reservations for the party or any information regarding the party may be made by calling the president, Miss Ellen Newell, at Dearborn 2036.

Allen Walker Is Honored.

Mrs. Allen Walker entertained at a birthday party last Saturday in honor of her young son, Allen Walker, Jr. The table was graced with a silver centerpiece holding yellow tapers. Assisting Mrs. Walker in serving were Mrs. Harry Glazier and Miss Bessie Frazier, of Boston, Mass.

Goldenlocks Discovers Quartersizes

You know the dear child always had such a hard time getting things the right size, well—Goldenlocks went shopping for a pair of pumps one day—

She found a darling pair at Rich's, but size 4 was just a little bit too small—

And, oh dear! size 4½ was a little too large—"That's the way it always is," sobbed poor Goldenlocks—

But just then the salesman slipped on another pair, size 4¼! They fitted perfectly! So Goldenlocks ran home delighted with her new Quartersize pumps.

Before the introduction of Quartersizes at Rich's, shoes had never been graded smaller than the half size.

Pumps have to be fitted so carefully that the girl with an in-between foot was out of luck.

But now, pumps that slip at the heel or cramp the toes are a thing of the past—if you buy Quartersizes at Rich's.

Junior League Jottings

BY MRS. REGINALD SCOTT FLEET, Editor

By Mrs. Reginald Fleet, Editor.

The contest for the best play for marionettes based on the Uncle Remus stories closed Saturday. Nine plays were submitted. This is a very creditable showing when one considers the fact that during the period of the contest almost all the members of the league were working on some phase of the "late great" Junior League Follies. The judges for the play contest are Mrs. Tea Eyck Brown, Mrs. Rhodes Haverly and Mrs. Edward Van Winkle, Jr. Their decision will be announced at the April meeting of the league.

The winning play or plays will be presented by the Junior League Marionettes at the last meeting of the year, the June meeting. This group of Junior League members have had a most successful year with the two plays "Cinderella" and "Jack and the Beanstalk." They have given performances at the Woman's Club, at Rich's, at several private parties, and at two of the public schools. The performances at the public schools were charitable performances and were attended by hundreds of children.

Two first prizes, one second prize and two honorable mentions, were the excellent record of the Atlanta Junior League. The recent conference in Jacksonville. These exhibits will be sent to the national conference.

is paris in league with lovers?

So it would seem! This return to more feminine fashions is reviving romance everywhere.

And with the new clothes—glorious new complexion! The vogue today is for more "natural" beauty—a fine skin-freshness that can only come with thorough cleansing. Go deep into the pores tonight with Armand Cleansing Cream—purge them—soften the texture—smooth away every little roughness. You'll love this fragrant cream—it's so much lighter and daintier.

Salon Miste of the "Ile de France" at tea hour

THE gypsy world of society, art and letters is never bored on land or sea. The "Ile de France" with its glittering modernistic salons, is the gathering place of the wits and the gourmets, the stage on which one sees the smartest frocks in smartest settings. . . . afternoon tea and evenings in the Salon Miste are always gay and beautifully chic. . . . Breton sailors, trained in a long and splendid tradition. . . . stewards who anticipate every wish. . . . de luxe suites that couldn't be more luxurious. . . . all outside rooms with private baths. . . . No wonder the sophisticates take it for granted and cross the "longest gangplank in the world" . . . from the heart of Manhattan to Havre, the port of Paris.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

WHITEFOOT IS OF TWO MINDS.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

To be unsettled in your mind. Most disturbing you will find. —Whitefoot the Wood Mouse.

As you know, Whitefoot the Wood Mouse is an exceedingly timid little fellow. When that big wasp's nest, in which he had his own nest all winter, was cut down by Farmer Brown's Boy, Whitefoot had been frightened almost out of his wits. You see, he hadn't known what was happening. As he dived out of the little round doorway and discovered Farmer Brown's Boy and Bowser the Hound and Flip the Terrier, poor little Whitefoot was so terrified that he could hardly think. He dived into a private little path through the grass and a moment later was in a hollow log in the bushes. The opening was just big enough for a Mouse to get in and he felt quite safe there. It was a long time before Whitefoot much as peeked out of that hole. Indeed, it was a long time before his little heart stopped going pit-a-pat, pit-a-pat with fright. When at length he did peek out of that hole and finally ventured forth, he was of two minds. He knew that his home had been cut down. He wanted

"Hello, Whitefoot!" said Peter. "What are you looking at up in that bush?"

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 25 cents the cost. From any drugstore, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up to the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germs. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial trouble. Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded. —(adv.)

Former Atlantan Entertains at Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 10.—Mrs. Frances Gordon-Smith, a former Atlantan, was hostess yesterday at luncheon at her home on The Hill given in honor of Mrs. Frank Mebane, the guest of Mrs. Robert G. Reese, and Mrs. John Skelton Williams, of Richmond, who is visiting Mrs. Gordon-Smith. Covers for eight were laid at table the adornment of which was as effective as it was artistic. On a handsome cloth of silver tone damask was a centerpiece of white Roman hyacinths in a vase of black crystal, and all of the china and glass used on the table was black and white. Mrs. Gordon-Smith is always a charming hostess and the occasion was one of much pleasure. Her guests were Mrs. Frank Mebane, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Reese, Mrs. William P. Davall, Mrs. Waddell, of Canada, Miss Anne Gordon-Smith and Miss Nan Langdon.

Mrs. W. C. Jamagin Presents 'Rosalind' at Woman's Club

"Rosalind," a one-act play, by Sir James Barrie, was presented by Mrs. W. C. Jamagin in her charming manner at the Atlanta Woman's Club Monday afternoon at the monthly meeting. March is being featured as "Drama Month," and this reading, which opened the drama program, was greatly enjoyed by the members. With Mrs. D. F. Stevenson at the piano the audience joined in singing "America," followed by a business session, at which time the various chairmen made brief reports concerning the work of the committee.

Mrs. John R. Hornady, president of the club, presided and introduced Dr. Josef Reed George, who held the undivided attention of his audience when he addressed them on the subject, "Vital Forces of Life," dwelling on the wonderful results to be obtained from the right application of "food knowledge" in preparing and combining foods. Mrs. Mary Griffith Dobbs, chairman of music, introduced the musical artist, in a group of songs. Mrs. Drummond gave the following selections: "Bissi D'Arte Bissi D'Amore," from the opera "Tosca"; "La Serenata" by Tosti; "As We Part," by Hight; "I Send My Heart Up to Thee," by Brancome; "Japanese Maiden," by Gaynor, taken from the "Toy Shop." She was accompanied by Signor Volpi.

Mrs. Bun Wylie, chairman of resolutions, presented a resolution, which the club adopted, endorsing the business and professional woman's week.

Are You expecting a Baby?

Scientific massage gives comfort to the expectant mother

THOUSANDS of expectant mothers are now cheerful and happy. Their waiting months have been made comfortable and they will be better prepared when the great moment of childbirth arrives.

This has also been true of countless thousands of expectant mothers for over 60 years who have used "Mother's Friend"—that time-tested, scientifically-prepared skin lubricant and pain-reliever, which originated in the prescription of an eminent obstetrician—and have been relieved of the strain and the pain, the discomfort and the nervousness that come from the distention and the stretching of the skin and the tissues which attend this delicate condition.

You, too, may enjoy the comfort "Mother's Friend" gives. It is so soothing and relaxing. It is not a drug to be taken. It is used externally only—gently rubbed into the skin. Clean and pleasant to the touch. Brings relief promptly. Very valuable in keeping the breasts in good condition. Also puts you in fine shape for the approaching ordeal.

"Mother's Friend" is on sale at all drug stores. $1.25 per bottle. Try a massage with it tonight and notice the ease and comfort it gives. Write for booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes."

The Bradford Co., Dept. 19, Atlanta, Ga. Please mail me a copy of your free booklet, in plain envelope, on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes."

TAFT FUNERAL RITES COMING OVER WSB

WSB at 12:40 o'clock this afternoon will carry a broadcast of the William Howard Taft funeral services from Washington, coming over the National Broadcasting Company's network. The services will be conducted in All Souls Unitarian church in Washington, D. C., and will last from 12:40 to 1:35 o'clock. Dr. Clynnes G. B. Pierce will deliver the funeral sermon.

N. B. C. telephone operators spent a busy night recently explaining to listeners that Mrs. Gertrude Berg, who plays the mother role in "The Rise of the Goldbergs," was ill and that a substitute had played the part. The operators estimated that more than 1,000 persons telephoned during the evening.

Andres Segovia, noted guitarist, heard on a recent Aviator Kent program through an N. B. C. network, can appreciate a joke on himself. On his way from Florida to New York for the broadcast he practiced his guitar regularly on the train. After one particularly long session a porter complimented Segovia on his playing. "If you could just play the saxophone like that you'd shoo make lotsa money," the negro declared.

The Treasure House of Martin Hews

by E. Phillips Oppenheim

"I shall be in the billiard room," she said.

I never could understand why every one obeyed Joseph without hesitation. Beatrice rose and, rather avoiding than seeking my eyes, she left the room. The disturbing question remained unasked. That terrible uncertainty still existed. Joseph came back to his place. He stood looking at me grimly and doubtfully.

"The world is no place," he said, his eyes watching my face all the time. "The world is no place nowadays for poor men."

"Isn't it? I seem to have rubbed along in it somehow."

"Uncomfortably, my dear enemy. You were in the direst straits when Martin Hews took you into his employ."

"Quite true," I admitted, "but I had kept something worth having."

"Melodrama," Joseph sighed. "A soldier of honor! You're warning me off, O'Connell."

"I'm hoping you're not going to offer me a bribe," I admitted. "It's hard enough as it is to remember my parole."

"I was thinking about it," he acknowledged. "If money does not tempt you, something else might. What about Beatrice?"

Something in his manner of speech, his icy insolence, maddened me.

"What is she to you that you should dare to dispose of her?" I demanded. "Answer me. I insist upon it."

Again he smiled, but this time there was a measure of contempt in his gesture.

"You poor simpleton!" he scoffed. "I could see when you were thinking, so could she. Beatrice is my sister. Haven't you yet discovered that?"

I am ashamed to confess that, for a few moments, I almost overcame my pride. I looked at him with a half-smile and a half-sneer.

"Go and make your peace with Beatrice, if you can. Leopold will show the way."

Leopold piloted me across the hall. "You wouldn't hurry," he whispered as he indicated the door. "He won't turn until three or four o'clock in the morning, and he and I have a great deal to talk about. I'll take you back to town in my car—let you know as soon as I'm ready."

I turned the handle of the door and entered. Beatrice was seated by the fire. She looked up startled at my coming. I fancied that she had been crying.

"Beatrice, I am the clumsiest beast!" I exclaimed, bending over her.

Her eyes told me that I was forgiven.

"You are," she admitted, "but you are nearly a dear."

We talked until the fire was nearly burnt out, and then we sat, silent for a time. Finally Beatrice said, with a half-smile and a half-sneer:

"Henry, what time do you suppose it is? You don't think Mr. Leopold's forgotten about us, do you?"

I glanced at my watch. It was past 12 o'clock. I opened the door and looked out. The whole place was in darkness.

"Beatrice," I ventured fearfully, "you don't suppose he's gone to Liverpool?"

She looked at me, terrified. Then she rang a bell. Its echo resounded through the house. Very soon the butler made his appearance.

"Mr. Leopold was to have taken Major Owsen back to London with him," Beatrice explained. "I am afraid he must have forgotten all about it."

"I am sure he did, miss," the man replied. "Mr. Leopold left with Sir Bruce soon after 11 o'clock."

We looked at each other in fear. "Hardly, is there another car in the garage?" Beatrice asked.

"The man shook his head.

"How does one get away from here?" I inquired. "How far is the railway station, or any place where one can hire a car?"

"The railway station is two and a half miles away, sir," he confided, "and I never heard of any night trains. The only thing I can think of is for you to walk to the main road and try to get a lift to Finchley. One of the garages might be open there."

"Can't we telephone?" Beatrice suggested.

"Most unfortunate, miss," the man regretted. "Sir Bruce was trying to telephone himself. It is because he failed to get the exchange that he thought it best to go up to town. The instrument is evidently out of order."

Beatrice's mind was swiftly made up. "Wait for me five minutes," she begged. "We'll do as Harding suggests—get on to the main road."

She was downstairs in a few moments, and we started off. In less than 10 minutes after we had reached the main road, an empty van on its way to London picked us up. We descended at the first garage at Finchley and hired a car and a driver. By the time we reached the Tilbury road the country began to disclose itself in a gray, streak light.

As we drew near Martin Hews' house Beatrice gripped my arm suddenly.

"The car!" she exclaimed. "There, in the shadow of the house, Joseph is here!"

"You can get into the house?" I asked.

She nodded.

"Through the servants' quarters. Minchin and I have keys; no one else."

We were within a few feet of the library when we stopped short. She gripped my arm and looked at me in horror. We could hear little tremulous cries, each one linked with a sob.

"I can't stand this," I cried. "Come!"

We heard a cracking sound and a glib voice—Joseph's—a hoarse laugh, and again the cry. I pushed open the door and stood there, absolutely without power of movement.

It was a sight so extraordinary that the utter loathsomeness of it only really gripped me afterwards. Joseph, with a whip in his hand, stood in the middle of an open space, and hobbling round in a circle was an object I scarcely recognized. Then it all came to me. I saw and understood.

Martin Hews, his wig torn off, as bald as man could be, his clothes disarranged, was lumbering round in grotesque little jumps, while Joseph cracked his whip. His body was just as we had always seen it, but beneath were the most distorted, strange little legs, about a foot and a half in length. Martin Hews was a monstrosity. While he hesitated upon the threshold, he staggered and fell. Joseph mocked him.

"Up, my brave little man!" he shouted. "Up and round the course! Up you get!"

Crack went the whip again. Martin Hews, his body writhing in pain, made a pitiful effort to struggle to his feet. "Minchin!" he sobbed out.

Then I saw for the first time that Minchin was also there, lounging in a chair, smoking a pipe—an interested and applauding spectator. He put his head back and laughed.

"Don't cut it too short, guv'nor," he begged. "Twice more round, eh? Twice!"

He broke off. Turning slowly round, he saw us. Suddenly the numbness left my limbs. I reached Minchin first. I flung him into a corner of the room, and then I went for Joseph.

He saw me coming, flicked at me with his whip, a cruel gash. I saw his eyes harden, his mouth set. If he was armed he made no effort to draw. He came toward me and we crashed into each other, well away from the sobbing little object upon the floor. It was a fight of a sort, I suppose. I remember nothing of it—nothing until I felt Beatrice's arms around my neck, pulling at me until my hands upon his throat almost choked him.

"Henry!" she cried. "You've killed him!"

Joseph opened his eyes. He raised himself with the help of his hands. "Not me," he muttered, with the ghost of his old smile. "I give in, though, Beatrice. Your man is the better—muscularly."

He staggered to his feet and sat on a chair. I looked around. Martin Hews was in his little carriage—I learned afterward that Beatrice had placed him there. Minchin had crept stealthily away. Joseph leaned forward.

"That man," he said, pointing to Martin Hews, "has escaped death at my hands, because death means no suffering. He will never forget this afternoon. Your mistake, I suppose, is in thinking of him as a human being. He is the devil incarnate. He starved my mother to death. He would have starved us, had he not thought we might be useful to him. I came from America to kill him. I stayed to fight him in every way. I prayed that he might not die before I had hurt him the only way he could be hurt—through his vanity, the miserable little touch."

Martin Hews, in his chair, was gibbering. I could not understand a word he said, but apparently Beatrice did, for she searched the room and brought back his wig. He placed it upon his head, covering himself up a little more closely. Even then he was a creature one would not willingly look at.

"Give me some wine or brandy," Joseph demanded, looking up abruptly from his place. "I have the brains, Owsen, and I fancy that I have some skill in fighting, but here I must give you best. You have hurt me badly."

I went to the secret cupboard, poured him out some brandy and gave it to him. Martin Hews made strange noises. I took him some, too. He drank it and seemed to become a little more his natural self.

"Some more," he insisted, holding out his glass.

He drained his second portion to the last drop, drew a deep breath and settled himself more in his chair. Waving us out of the way, he swung round and paused at his desk.

"Joseph," he said, "I will return good for evil. I will show you something, the envy for which will be a bright upon your life, if you manage to escape the hangman for another year or two. I will show you your failures and my successes. Come!"

We all followed the chair. He turned and waved us back.

"Never in my life have I taken more than one person at a time into my tabernacle," he said. "We go alone and remember that what I show you I show you for your misery."

Joseph rose a little languidly to his feet. It seemed to me that he was still dazed.

"You shall see the Buddha," Martin Hews went on. "You shall see the Corregio Donkin took from your people. You shall see the tapestries Isaacs found while your men were sharpening their tools. No, not you," he added, motioning us away. "You have another task. Go back the way you came and ring the bell outside the third door on the left in the courtyard, for tonight is over. I want to know where those others were lurking when Minchin opened the doors. Go!"

He hesitated. Beatrice, however, drew me away.

"You must obey," she whispered. "It is the only chance with him when he is like this."

From the threshold I watched them. Martin Hews was some minutes producing his keys, but eventually the great door swung open. Just before the two disappeared into the shadows Beatrice and I descended and moved across the courtyard in the gray morning light. We passed the first door, and the second, and there was no third. We looked at each other.

"What did your uncle mean?" I demanded.

"I cannot imagine," she answered. But even at that moment we knew.

The ground beneath our feet shook and rocked. There was a hissing sound, and then a tremendous explosion. The walls of the gallery, seemed suddenly to split and crumble and fall outward. Red flames curled and leaped toward the sky. Clouds of smoke shot up and drifted away, darkening the whole of the countryside. The crash of further explosions followed, the sound of falling masonry in every direction. It was my fancy, of course, but in the first moment's silence that ensued after that awful pandemonium, I fancied that I heard a shrill, mocking laugh.

We drew farther away, for the flames were spreading and the heat was intolerable. The men who came running out from the house and tower could do nothing but gaze upwards in amazement. Firemen and police were soon swarming over the place. I led Beatrice toward the car.

At the bend in the road before the station I looked back for the last time. A fresh column of smoke was curling up to the sky. There was the thunder of masonry as another of the walls crashed to the ground.

"It is finished," I said. "The child has played with his toys for the last time."

There was a great deal of rough justice about Rachel's words when we went to see her at the hospital a few days later.

"I don't know that I'm sorry for either of them, though," she decided.

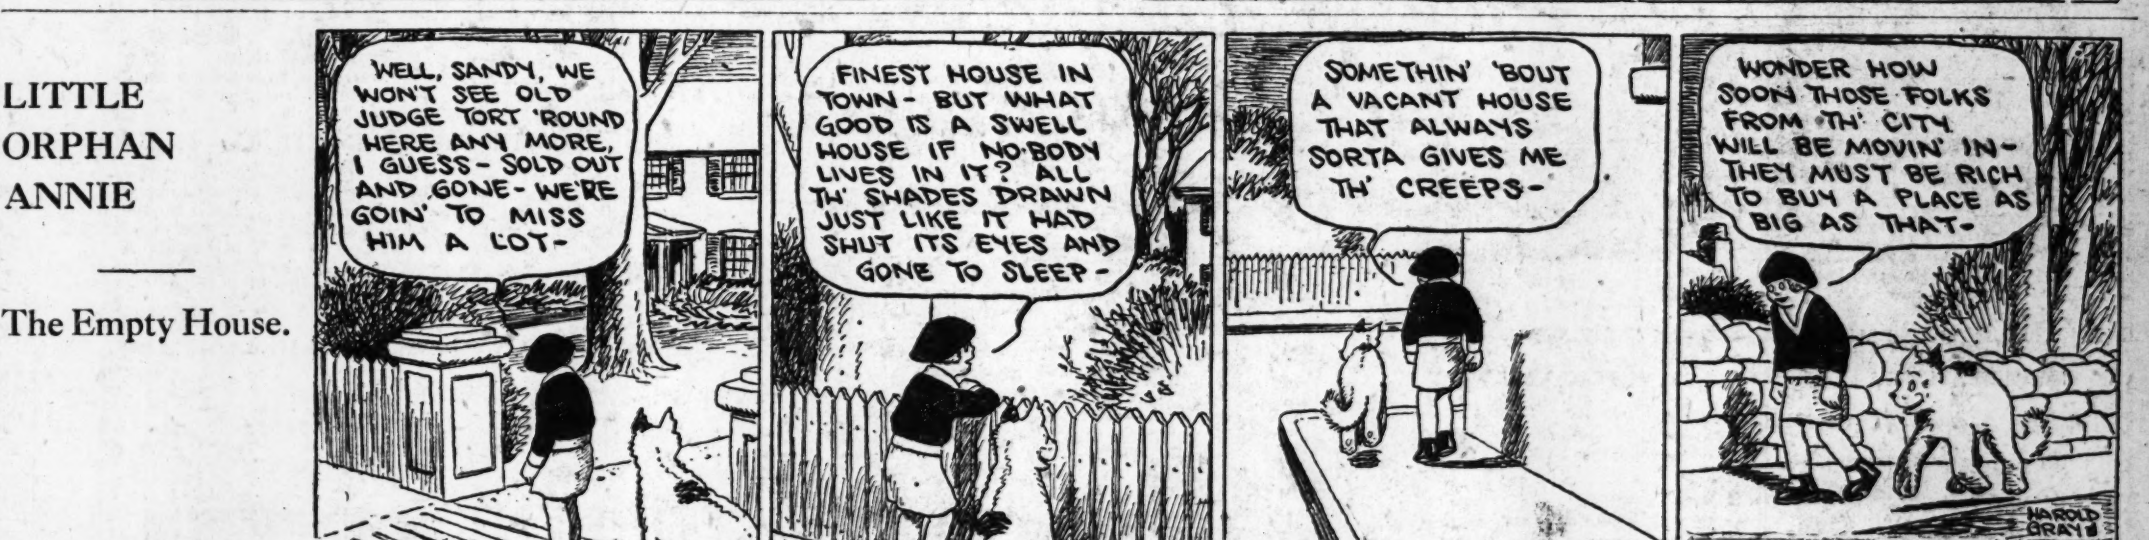

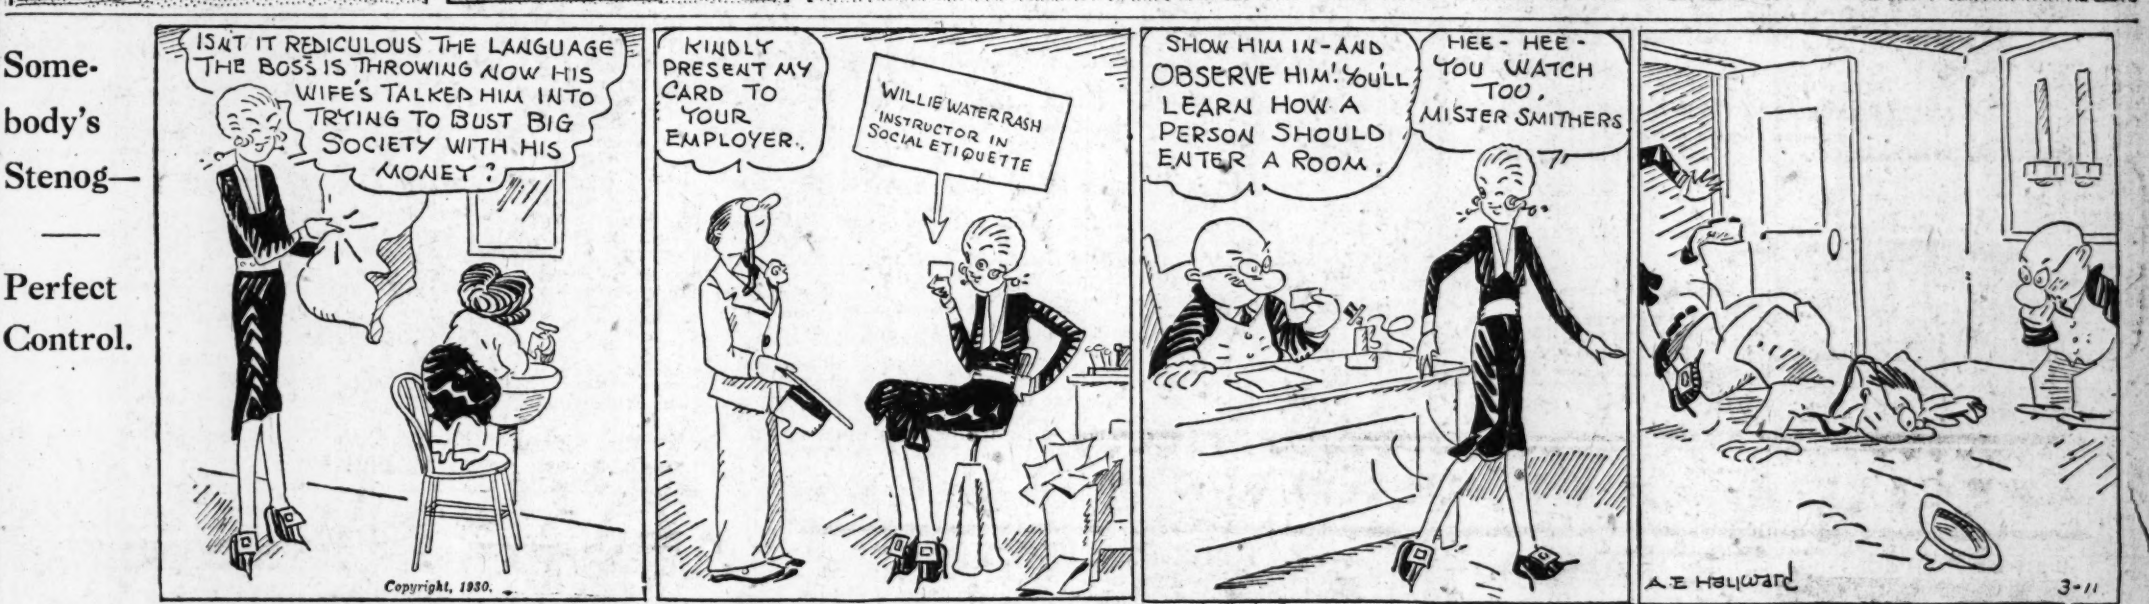

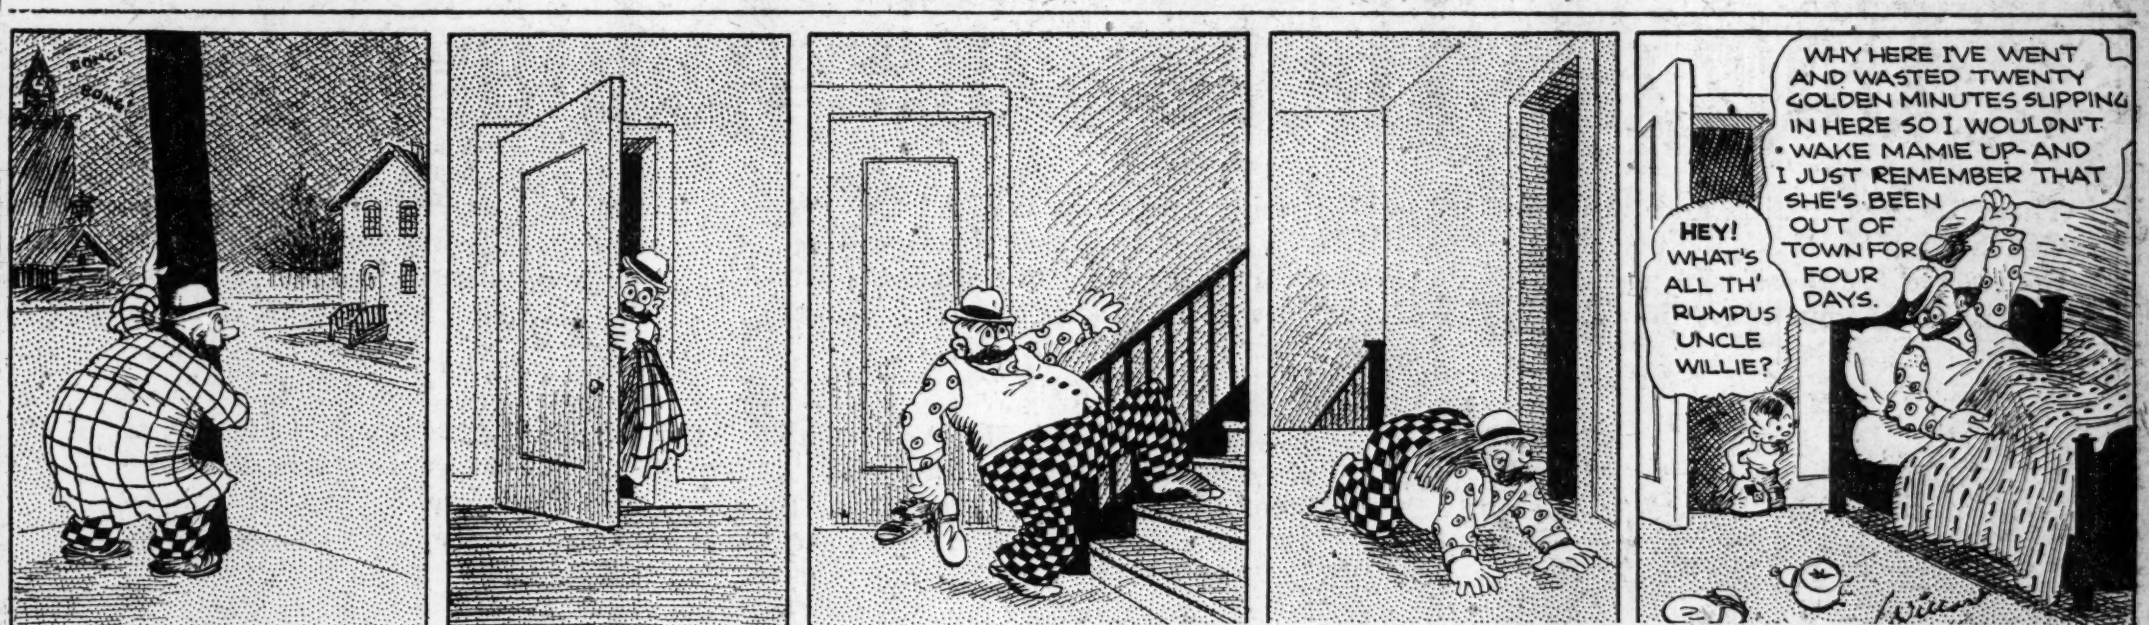

"Martin Hews—well, he never ought to have been allowed to grow up—a poor creature like that, eaten up with

The territory covered by The Atlanta Constitution has been divided into two divisions and these divisions have been divided into districts of five each. The first division comprises that territory in the counties of Fulton and DeKalb. The second division comprises all the other territory. The first division includes districts number one to five inclusive. The second division includes districts number six to ten inclusive. Candidates are NOT limited to their own division or district in securing subscriptions, they may be obtained anywhere. The campaign ends May 31. Any person residing within the prescribed territory, excepting employees, members of employees' immediate family, carriers or agents of The Atlanta Constitution, may become a candidate.

How Prizes Will Be Awarded

To the candidate securing the highest total of credits during The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 Prize Campaign will be awarded the $3,120 PIERCE-ARROW SEDAN (First Grand Prize); to the second highest candidate in credit standing will be given the $2,835 FRANKLIN SEDAN (Second Grand Prize). These two awards will be made irrespective of the divisions or districts from which the winners may be entered.

After the two grand prize winners have been eliminated from further consideration, the three candidates highest in credit totals in the City Division (First Division) will be determined and to them will be given, in the order named, the $1,615 NASH SEDAN, the $1,180 CHRYSLER BROUGHAM and the $965 ESSEX COACH. In like manner the three candidates highest in credit standings in the Outside Division (Second Division) will be decided and to them will be awarded, in the following order, the $1,495 REO SEDAN, $1,295 MARION-ROOSEVELT SEDAN and the $965 PONTIAC SEDAN. These division car awards will be made regardless of district boundaries in each division.

After the two grand prize winners and the six division prize winners of cars have been eliminated from further competition, next will be determined the three candidates highest in credit standing in each of the ten districts. To the leader in each district will be awarded one of the five $675 CHEVROLET COACHES or one of the five $608 FORD TUDOR SEDANS. The five $675 CHEVROLET COACHES will be given to the five highest of these ten candidates and the five $608 FORD TUDOR SEDANS will be given to the remaining five winners of district automobiles. The second highest candidate, in credit standing, in each district will be given a $174.50 ATWATER KENT RADIO, and the third highest candidate, in credit standing, in each district will be given a $146.50 ATWATER KENT RADIO.

No candidate can win more than one of the above listed prizes. All candidates not winning a regular prize will be paid a cash commission of ten per cent on all new prepaid subscriptions and five per cent on all new contract subscriptions turned in by them, providing they remain active from time of entry and turn in at least $50 in new subscriptions.

Babe Ruth Hits His First Home Run of Season; Yankees Lose CRACKER YANNIGANS TIE REGULARS, 4 TO 4

For something like two years I have been trying to express myself on Rudy Vallee's voice. If you, too, are just one of those men that girls forget, you no doubt have punished your brain in impotent rage trying to say something about it.

The thought was there—but the word, or the simile, simply had not been invented to describe it from the standpoint of a man whose hair is getting a bit thin in the crown.

The trouble is over now. Another bird, similarly situated in the scheme of things, has done it for us. I pass along this clipping that a friend in Columbus sent. The author is unknown; wish I could give him credit; it was from the Plain-Dealer sports page.

Try this next time your radio drips the honeyed tones of America's Adorable Boy:

The boy and his date were leaving the theater after listening to the Vallee picture. He was adjusting his scarf and she was waiting, a misty light in her eyes, a far-away look on her face. "I don't know what it is," she was saying. "There's something about his voice. It's dreamy and smooth and yet it's passionate. It's a croon and yet it's a heartfelt sob. It isn't a big voice but it does things to you. It hits you. It has a timbre, a richness, mellowness that's new in men's singing voices. It's wonderful. I don't know what it is but it's wonderful."

By this time the escort had his scarf adjusted and was looking as though he'd like to fit his two hands around a tenor throat and just squeeze and squeeze and squeeze. But he had his answer ready and it wasn't a bad one. "I think I know what it is," he said. "When I had it as a youngster, they called it adenoids."

WRESTLING REVIVAL

Wrestling just now is in the midst of a healthy revival in our midst. For several months Henry Weber, widely known exploiter of pachyderms, has been bringing leading grapplers into town and staging entertaining shows.

His crowds have steadily increased. And enthusiasm is as high as it ever was at the height of the reign of John Contos, the natty Athenian.

Weber once was a wrestler. He is a showman of the quiet type. He has not FORCED his grunting giants on the public by noisy press-agenting. He has let wrestlers do their own promoting by hard work and exciting matches.

Now he is facing one of his biggest shows with Richard Shikat, one of the new world's champions (there always seems to be a large supply, but Shikat appears to be the champion-champion right now).

Shikat's opponent is Paul Jones, long a popular idol here. Shikat can subdue a man of the type of Jones only after a long, hard struggle. The show should be one of the best ever staged here under any auspices.

"BIG SIX" CHALLENGES LUMPKIN

"Big Six" Luckey, of Carrollton, the old Georgia line man, who also boxed well on the college squad, wants a crack at "Father" Lumpkin and in the following note conveys his challenge:

"I have been watching with interest Lumpkin's ring career so far and was not so much impressed until he stopped my good friend, Hollis Morris, the other night, which quite surprised me. But here is the thing. I have had some little experience in the ring. I've stopped some boys and have been stopped a couple of times myself. I know how it feels both ways.

"But I think that I can make it right interesting for him for several rounds and may be able to, as you say, tag him some myself. I'd like mighty well to get a match with him about 30 days hence, there, and I'd like to hear your impression of it.

You may or may not publish this as you see fit. But I'd like for you to personally convey this challenge to Mr. Hanlon and tell him to let me hear. Hoping to be able to get a match with 'Father,' I am, etc."

Rosenbloom Wins Fight on Foul At Ormond Beach

NEW YORK, March 10.—(AP)—Maxey Rosenbloom, play-boy of Harlem, won from Larry Johnson, stiff-punching Chicago negro, on a foul to-night in the sixth round of their 10-round feature match in Madison Square Garden. A swinging left, deep in the groin, stretched Rosenbloom writing on the canvas after 29 seconds of the sixth. Rosenbloom weighed 173 1/2, Johnson 174 1/2.

It was an unsatisfactory ending to a vicious battle that was fought on fairly even terms through the first five rounds. The thumping negro, swinging that left with wild left hooks to the body, an occasional right to the head, annoyed Rosenbloom considerably but could not spike the Harlem harlequin's whirlwind attack.

A crowd of 15,000 howled at the anti-climax but there seems no question that the blow, entirely accidental, was patently foul. Rosenbloom was badly hurt and was unable to leave the ring for several minutes. Lou Sezza, Buffalo, light-heavyweight, easily took the decision from Rose Rosales, of Cleveland, in the 10-round semi-final. Sezza weighed 169 1/2, Rosales 171.

London Reports Carnera Engaged

LONDON, March 11.—(Tuesday)—The London Daily News today says that the Italian heavyweight boxing giant, Primo Carnera, has lost his heart to Miss Emilia Torsini, a British subject, and will return here to marry her and settle in England. Carnera's romance, according to the newspaper, began when the heavy-weight visited England for a bout with Young Strubling, the American boxer. The Daily News quotes Miss Torsini herself and her friends as authority for the story. Miss Torsini, who is described as of typical Italian appearance but born in England, lives with her Uncle Nani, who keeps a restaurant in the west end of London. Emilia's sister, Ines Torsini, is a member of the Carl Rosa Opera Company.

Income Tax Costs Babe Ruth $10,246

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(AP)—Though Babe Ruth will receive a salary of $80,000 this year and next, he actually will receive less than $70,000 himself each time because $10,246 must go to pay the annual income tax. A person with a salary of $80,000 who like Ruth, is married and has two dependents is allowed an exemption of $4,300. Subtracting the amount exempted, the tax on the remainder under the 1929 tax reduction schedule would amount to $10,668, but the taxpayer would be allowed a credit of $422 for earned income, making his tax total $10,246.

BABE RUTH HITS FIRST HOME RUN AS YANKS LOSE

Sultan of Swat Also Bags Triple After Signing His Contract.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 10.—(AP)—The New York Yankees found their war clubs silenced by two experienced pitchers, Bruce Cunningham and Ed Brandt, with the result that Boston Braves won their first exhibition game of the season 7 to 5 today.

Manager Bob Shawkey chose to experiment with youngsters on the mound, using Vernon Gomez and Bill Henderson after Roy Shered had held the Braves at bay for three rounds.

Babe Ruth, making his first legal appearance of 1930, got a homer and a triple. The four-base swat was his first of the kind in four years at the St. Petersburg park. Cooke also made a home run.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Boston Braves 000 312 010—7 13 0 N. Y. Yankees 022 010 000—5 5 1 Cunningham, Brandt and Spohrer and Gowdy, Sherid, Gomez, Henderson and Dickey and Hargrave.

Swat King Signs On Dotted Line

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 10.—(AP)—Babe Ruth today signed his new contract and the New York Yankees took a two-year lease on his services at $80,000 annually, to make life miserable for opposing pitchers in the American league.

The Bambino signed on the dotted line for a raise of $10,000 over his salary for the past three years and will continue as the highest paid performer in the national pastime.

The formal signing took place this morning at Colonel Jacob Ruppert's suite, before a battery of cameras and the "war" correspondents following the Yankee spring training tour.

Ruth announced Saturday that he would accept Ruppert's terms after stating the previous day that he would hold out for $85,000 a year.

Cardinals Upset Athletics, 16-9

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 10.—(AP)—For the second straight day the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 16 to 9, in a slugfest opening of the baseball season here today.

The Cards thus took the lead in the four-game series, 2 to 1, and the Athletics will be played at Bradenton tomorrow.

A fairly close game at the start was changed when Rube Walberg faced the National leaguers in the fourth. Before he had finished his three innings' workout, the Cardinals had knocked out 10 hits for 11 runs, seven up, up the game.

Walberg, up the game, swatted two doubles, a triple and a single, driving in half of the Cards' runs. Athletics' 900 221 000 16 17 2 St. Louis 010 506 400—16 17 2 Bell, Grabowski, Derringer and Mancuso; Earnshaw, Walberg, Shores and Cochran and Perkins.

White Sox

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 10.—(UN)—Donnie Bush, manager of the Chicago White Sox, remained impassive this afternoon when reports from Dallas quoted Art Shires as on his way here to sign tomorrow.

"Shires is under suspension and he will have to get President Comiskey's leave in this event, easily disposed of," said Bush. "If he's coming here tomorrow to sign at the club's figure, that's fine. But if not, he still is a suspended ball player."

Shires, in the Dallas report, claimed he had been reinstated two weeks ago. Bush said he had not been informed by the home office that the first baseman's suspension had been removed.

Neither Bush nor Secretary Grabner would comment on the salary terms in the club's last offer to Shires. Despite reports placing it in excess of $10,000. It is understood that he will get no more than $7,500.

Brooklyn

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 10.—(UN)—Leo Meadows, fourth Pittsburgh Pirates' right hander, was with the Brooklyn Robins in training today. Meadows, a free agent, finished last season with New York. Before going there he was with Indianapolis. If he fails to land a job with the Robins, he hopes to sign with a Southern league team. The Atlanta Crackers, it is said, are ready to make him an offer.

Robbie staged two more drills today. The first was devoted to batting and fielding practice and in the afternoon the Yankees defeated the Regulars, 5 to 2. The contest put the players on edge for tomorrow's game with the Detroit Tigers.

Cracker Magnates Begin--and End-- Spring Training

Cracker officials visited the spring camp in Douglas Saturday, took a few turns at bat and declared themselves ready to start the season. BARNARD SEES EXCITING RACE Added Strength in American League Indicates Several Clubs in Fight.

TAMPA, Fla., March 10.—(AP)—E. S. Barnard, president of the American league, said today that the indications point to some worthwhile competition. "I believe we will have an exciting race in the American league," he said. "Certainly two clubs, and doubtless others, have been improved over last year and there should be some great competition. I am convinced that the Detroit and Chicago clubs will be stronger."

"If these two clubs have been strengthened as I believe they have, the indications point to some worthwhile competition. The number of young players of ability coming up in the last two years has been impressive. We are returning to normal conditions in the game. The quality of play will be steadily improved as a result of the arrival of these younger players who themselves will become better qualified as they gain experience."

"During the post-war depression—and I am speaking now of the playing end of the game—the crop of young players with sufficient ability to command the attention of major league scouts was reduced to a minimum. If it is not yet a bumper crop, nevertheless it is growing steadily and the results are already apparent."

"From the standpoint of prospective attendance my observations have been highly satisfactory. Interest in baseball everywhere seems to be enthusiastic and I expect a splendid season in every respect."

Colonel Lee Made Manager of Show

Colonel Fitzhugh Lee, United States cavalry, has been appointed general manager of the Atlanta Horse Show to be held at Piedmont Park in April. It was announced Monday. Colonel Lee was appointed by General Frank McCoy, chairman of the executive committee of the Atlanta Horse Show Association.

Colonel Lee will assist the newly elected president, Hunt Chipley, in staging the show. He is an experienced horseman, has handled numerous horse shows, has raised and trained horses and at one time owned a racing stable. Colonel Lee will take up his duties, it is understood, within the next few days.

Johnny Dobbs Looks Forward to Big Year

Crackers Now Lined Up Look Good—No Dis-sension Found by McGill at Douglas.

By Ralph McGill, Constitution Staff Correspondent. DOUGLAS, Ga., March 10.—With most of his sheep in the fold, Johnny Dobbs is going ahead without any idea of encountering grief along the road.

Should, however, the future develop the fact that some of the boys are spavined on such antique pieces of baseball bric-a-brac that they can't stand the pace, which is unlikely, then John Dobbs will put on his gum shoes and go snooping about the baseball camps of Florida seeing what can be done.

Meanwhile he is going ahead with his plans and sees no reason why he should enter the fray. He is confident that the club will be ready to stand the pace, which is unlikely, then John Dobbs will put on his gum shoes and go snooping about the baseball camps of Florida seeing what can be done.

"I don't anticipate any trouble," said Dobbs. "However, if it should develop that we need something I will make a trip and see if I can get it. We are close to the camps here at Douglas and I can get to them without a great deal of trouble."

Milton Stock, once a major league star and last year herdsman on the Dallas Steers, took his first workout today. He was delayed in arrival because of his mother's illness. "I am glad of the chance to play with Atlanta for Johnny Dobbs," said Milton Stock. "I think we ought to have a good year."

Stock was greeted enthusiastically by the squad Sunday night. He is a popular ball player. "You are just a stone's throw from home," aren't you?" he asked Ivy Wingo.

NO. NORCROSS. "No," said Ivy, "but I am when I get to Atlanta."

"Say," he said, "I thought you lived at Waycross."

Ivy Wingo drew himself up, a hurt look on his freckled countenance. "Say," he said, "haven't you ever heard of Norcross?"

When Mr. Rudyard Kipling was writing his piece about the fact that to each man was given some little spot of earth to love the best he must have had the sore-thatched Ivy Wingo in mind.

WHAT! NO SOX? Ivy Wingo is a great home town man. He went shopping for socks Saturday and returned deprecating the stock of socks to be found here. "Why," he said, "I thought you lived at Waycross."

"Norcross isn't half the size of this town and they have lots more socks there than they've got here."

A. A. U. OFFICIALS NAME REFEREES

Abel, Chambers and Foster Selected for Amateur Ring Tourney.

By Roy White. JAKE ABEL, Mike Chambers and Sergeant Foster, of Fort McPherson, will referee the amateur boxing tourney to be staged in the Atlanta Athletic Club gymnasium Friday, Saturday and Monday. It was announced by the committee in charge Monday morning.

Seve Hart, Phil Deagon, Harry Vaughn and Robert H. Martin have been named as judges. Joe Deane, of the Atlanta Athletic Club, will be the official timer. Joe Bean, Steve Hartney and Mike Chambers are members of the committee, with Al Doonan assisting.

Pairings for the elimination tournament will be made Wednesday night, shortly after the deadline for all entries and the tournament will start Friday afternoon, at a time to be announced later. The starting time depends upon the number of entries.

Each of the elimination bouts will go three-minute rounds with one minute intermission. They will be three-minute rounds. In case the judges fail to agree, an extra round will be allowed.

In addition to the 20-odd entries announced Sunday, members of the committee have received word that 30 more are being placed in the mails and will arrive in time for the pairings Wednesday night.

Eight entries will be received from Fort Benning, at Columbus, Ga. Mobile has already sent in five, two from the Young Men's Hebrew Association at Nashville. Georgia University has entered five. Newnan, Ga. Athletic Club one and two entries have been received from the Young Harris Boxing Club, at Young Harris, Ga. They are Edgar McAlister, a flyweight, and Bill Dickson, a middleweight.

The Memphis Catholic Club officials have notified members of the committee that six entries for the tournament will be sent. University of North Carolina is expected to send eight entries and University of Alabama and University of Virginia are expected to send five or six entries.

Frank Walker, the fence buster from Greenville, was absent today. He ate something near midnight Sunday that left him a bit ill. He spent the time boosting Cliff Knox as a catcher.

While the Crackers are out seeking a receiver they may have one right in their midst. Walker says Knox hit well and that none of the clubs in the Sally league tried to steal on him last season.

Ed Lewis, who appeared in the Crackers' lineup today in the yaniganian infield, is an Atlanta semi-pro who is playing, so the boys think, with a trick name. He will hardly make the grade this year but looks like a nice prospect.

DOUGLAS, Ga., March 10.—That red, red, red, comes bob, bob, bobbin' along is the poorest harbinger of spring in the world compared with a baseball box score. The boys in stick around a year. Newspaper reporters write about the first robin but there isn't one. But there is a first box score and it blooms only in the spring.

Hence by these tokens it may be known that spring is officially here. The Regulars and Yannigans of the Cracker camp, played a baseball game this afternoon that ended in a 4-and-4 tie after six innings of play. The game was halted because the pitchers were very, very exhausted. Some of them were not ready to start. Bull Rauch, Lefty Wiernan, Jim Seagraves and Oscar Nemitz bore the pitching burdens.

Bull Rauch went four innings for the Yannigans and he might have brought the boys in ahead had he been in all the way. The Regulars got two hits off him. One was legitimate, being a lousy single to right field by Sam Langford, the piece of TNT from Texas. The other was a two-base blow that fell in left field when Hunt and McChes couldn't make up their minds who should take the ball.

Ivy Wingo was in charge of the Yannigans and he might have won a victory over Manager Johnny Dobbs had not the Yannigan infield bogged down and given Jim Seagraves miserable support when he began pitching in the fifth inning. Two errors that came right in the old clutch and two doubles, by Sheehan and Langford, gave the regulars three tallies that put them one ahead, they having scored one in the second.

Truth to tell it was an even sort of game, the Regulars bustling open at the seams in the third inning when the Yannigans were scoring their three tallies. The Regulars made two infield errors and one in the outfield that inning to let the Yannigans score three runs with just one lone hit to their credit in that inning.

An error and a couple of singles gave Ivy Wingo's club a tally in the sixth.

At that point a poll of the pitchers was taken and they were found to be entirely exhausted. Ivy Wingo pointed to some buzzards in the sky and wanted the pitchers to keep their dead arms covered up well and so Johnny Dobbs gets the boys in the clubhouse. He was taking no chances.

The pitchers were not curving them very much and there is little to say about the team's play. The first game was very creditable and encouraging. There was a lot of enthusiasm, and two double plays, Stock got right into harness, his first day on it, as did Leo Bader and "Doc" Silva.

The umpiring was just fair. Secretary Ross, on the bases, did not have his horse and did a good job. Joe Kiefer, calling balls and strikes, had left his glasses at home.

There will be another game tomorrow if some pitchers can be found.

Meadows Seeks Job With Robins, Atlanta

Dispatches from Clearwater, Fla., where the Brooklyn Robins are in training, Monday said that Leo Meadows, bespectacled pitcher, made a free agent last year by New York, was looking for a job with Wilbert Robinson. If he does not land with Brooklyn, Meadows says that he expects to line up with the Crackers. R. J. Spiller, business manager of the Crackers, is seriously ill at his home here and could not be reached Monday night for a statement. Down at Douglas, Ga., Johnny Dobbs, Cracker manager, was out on a fox hunt and did not return until the early morning hours. It is not thought that he knows anything about the deal, if such a deal has been considered.

McKechnie Building Slugging Team To Lift Club Out of Cellar

STRONG OFFENSE CLUB'S DEFENSE, MANAGER SAYS

Mound Staff Experienced; Sock Is What Pilot Is Seeking.

By Alan Gould.

Associated Press Sports Editor.
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 10.—(AP)—Acting on the theory that he has everything to gain and nothing to lose, gray-haired Bill McKechnie has begun his four-year term of office as manager of the Boston Braves by putting a premium on the old-fashioned wallop.

The harder and longer the Braves sock 'em in spring training the better are their chances of landing a berth. "You know you have never faced the development of defense in any club at the expense of attack," said McKechnie. "In this day and age of baseball I am a firm believer that the punch is the thing. Ball games are won by the club scoring the most runs. We may be outscored a lot, but we will do considerable scoring on our own account if I can find the boys with the wallop."

SHOWER NATIVES.
As a result of the policy of brute force in practice, the natives and tourists on the outskirts of Waterfront park have been sent scurrying to cover by the long-distance clouts of the 1930 crop of Braves. The club uniform, with the flaring emblem of an Indian in war feathers in front as well as on the back of the shirt, contributes to the terrifying effect of the boys from Boston, Beaverton, Oregon; Beaumont, Texas, and Crestview, Fla.

Neither is McKechnie particular what position his players occupy so long as they can hit. The star recruit in camp, big, rangy Walter Dinger, who hit 40 home runs for Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast league last season, came east as an outfielder but may start the season at third base. Russell (Red) Hollingsworth, third baseman drafted from Hollywood of the Coast circuit, is hitting hard enough to warrant the prediction he may replace the aerobically fielding but light-hitting Freddy Maguire at the keystone sack. If McKechnie finds any potential Babe Ruths or Lefty O'Douls in his collection of pitchers, he will not hesitate in the least to shove him into an outfield.

No doubt McKechnie has in mind that the Yanks clubbed their way to a number of championships and that even the Phillies by the sheer application of brute force slugged their way into fifth position in the National league last year. The veteran manager has not the slightest illusion about where his team is going, if anywhere, for 1930. He knows, as do all the critics, that it will take a "1914 miracle" even to get the Braves out of the cellar. So far as that goes he regards himself as a "cheerful pessimist." But with time (and he has at least four years of it at his disposal) McKechnie thinks something can be done about the situation. The man who led Pittsburgh and St. Louis to pennants, losing his job after each victorious accomplishment, hardly could be immediately discouraged, even by the outlook for the Braves.

What the club needs more than anything else at present is a first-string, capable catcher. Al Spohrer, a knock-out victim of Ann Shires during the winter, is willing but still perhaps a little punch-drunk.

Hank Gowdy, nearing 40, probably can do a better job behind the bat than any backstop in camp but Hank's future is behind him. McKechnie hopes to land another backstop when rival clubs begin cutting down.

BOB CARDS 68 AT EAST LAKE

Bobby Jones continued his sub-par golf rounds Sunday when he scored a 68, four strokes under par, on the East Lake course. Jones was playing in a foursome with Sherwood Hurt, Chick Ridley and Bob Gardner, a foursome in which he has played many rounds on his home course.

Frank Ball, professional at East Lake, stated Monday that he has been paying particular attention to Bobby's golf during the past few days and that he is hitting his drives and approaches as well as ever before.

"Jones should have one of his best years in golf," the East Lake pro said. "While Jones was knocking par for a row of birds, Dr. Brinson B. Gay received the thrill of his golfing career. He scored his first hole-in-one and a full-fledged member of the 'Atlanta Dodo Club.' Dr. Gay was playing in a threesome with R. A. Bear and Ewan McConnell and his massive shot from the 11th tee rolled into the cup."

A few minutes before he started his round Dr. Gay and his companions were talking about Arch Martin's three holes-in-one on the course.

"I am about due for one today," Dr. Gay said.

In the spring a deeper crimson comes into the duffer's eye, In the spring he gropes and reaches for another alibi.

In the spring the heel prints glitter like a cobra in the sand, Where the duffer hacks and wallows with a niblick in his hand.

In the spring the woods are flaming from the hillside to the rut, But the duffer's soul burns brighter when he blows a two-foot putt.

In the spring the birds and blossoms always keep their sunlit date, In the spring the slice returns and the world is full of hate.

Heading Off One Club.

The general opinion is that the National league race this season will be the best in many years. Cincinnati and Brooklyn, two of the weaker starters a year ago, are much stronger. Outside of one club the race looks to be well balanced. But who is to keep the Cubs in line? They were ten or twelve games beyond any rival club last season. They had the pennant packed away early in September and then loafed in.

The Cubs have the same club, with a few additions, ready for the new season. Their one possible weakness is around the infield, where they have only average strength. They are not weak here, but neither are they invincible. Bell may help their cause at third, but even if he does the Cub infield is hardly up to the outfield and the pitching staff, which is the basis of McCarthy's strength.

If the Cubs happen to slip a few pegs and drop back with the field the National league race will be the best in many years. But in the meanwhile something will have to be done about preventing the Cubs from opening up another big gap.

Tuning Up An Argument.
"The argument is still going on," says an exchange, "as to whether modern boxing is sport or big business."

There is no foundation for any argument here. Modern boxing makes no pretense of being a sporting affair. For that matter it isn't big business—business, but not so big.

It is all a matter of getting as much money as possible in the easiest possible way. Why not? Some one may ask. For the simple reason that in the long run this system doesn't pay. It is poor business. Scalling, fouling, foul claiming, clinching, etc., are not so good as box office advertisements, even granting the fact that the spectator's capacity for punishment is unlimited.

There is another indictment against the modern boxer beyond his unwillingness to do much fighting. It is this—most of them don't know how to fight or box. The quality of their skill is low. Many of them would possibly like to make a better showing if they only knew how. They don't know how because they have never taken the time and trouble to learn the fundamentals of their game. They get a bare superficial knowledge of form and then try to cash in what little they know for a lot more than they are worth.

What Form Means.

Bill Tilden worked over his tennis game until he completed a firm foundation in the way of correct form.

The result is still in evidence. Tilden has been playing high-class tennis or in high-class competition for twenty years. He is now something like thirty-seven years old. Yet he is still cleaning up most of the younger European stars and there are not over two amateurs who can beat him today—Cochet and LaCoste. Tilden has lost a lot of his old speed and at least a part of his old stamina.

But he is now using correct form to beat greater speed and greater stamina. He worked at tennis until he had practically no loose spot in his entire range of strokes. He had no set weakness in any one line to bother about. Speed and power may have covered up any such weakness when he was younger, but said weakness would have thrown him quickly after he passed thirty-five.

One promoter says the average spectator would pay $5 to see Carnegies eat peanuts. Why carry the set-up idea even to his food? Why not make it a real contest against twenty pounds of beef-steak or corn on the cob?

Gene Sarazen has adopted a neat system for his final round. When in doubt shoot a 68 or a 69. This is something for the duffer to think about and possibly try out some day.

DOBBS SEES GOOD SEASON

of the finest exhibitions of sharp-shooting seen in some years. "I'm an ever-ready pitcher," I guess," said Kiefer. "Somehow or other I have a sort of off-season and a good one. This year I am due to have a good one."

Leo Bader, another who reported late Sunday after the workout of that day, was on hand for the Monday chores. Bader, ballplayer by Nap Rucker and all his associates on the Macon club last year as what the boys call "a honey" at fielding the baseball, declares that his arm is all right and that he is ready for his year.

Bader was suffering from rheumatism in his throwing shoulder. An operation for the removal of his tonsils was successful and a trip to Hot Springs during the winter put him in shape for baseball.

From all this reporter can see and hear and learn there is no discussion on this ball club and none in the offing. All seem to realize that all they need to have a good year is co-operation. And there is every sign it will be had. Johnny Dobbs says it is one of the finest baseball squads he has ever had.

Polish Runner Is Barred in U. S.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(AP)—Stanislaw Petkiewicz, Polish runner, was barred from further competition in this country by the Amateur Athletic Union today upon receipt of information from Europe that he is not in the good graces of the International Athletic Federation.

Petkiewicz was scheduled to compete in a meet in Hartford, Conn., tonight, the New York chapter Knights of Columbus event at Madison Square Garden Wednesday and the national A. A. U. indoor championships at the same arena March 18.

In the K. of C. games the hard-running Pole had been a featured entrant in the Columbian mile, an international event in which he was pitted against Ray Conger and Dr. Paul Martin, of Switzerland.

A statement from the A. A. U. explained that Petkiewicz, who competed for Latvia in the last Olympics but has since transferred his allegiance to Poland, had been denied permission ever to compete in Latvia again and that that country has asked the international federation to make the disqualification universal.

SMITH, DUDLEY TRAMPLE FOES IN MIAMI PLAY

Famous Professionals Win by 12-11 in International 4-Ball Matches.

MIAMI, Fla., March 10.—(AP)—Horton Smith, sporting his recently acquired colors of Craston-on-the-Hudson Golf and Yacht Club, Craston, N. Y., paired with Ed Dudley, of Wilmington, Del., today to present 13 birdies out of 25 holes of actual playing and advanced to third day play in the $5,000 international four-ball matches in the most decisive rout in the seven years' history of the tournament.

The pair scored a 12 and 11 victory in a scheduled 30-hole match with Leonard Schmutte, Lima, Ohio, and Clarence Hackney, Atlantic City, in second day elimination play of the tournament.

The match ended on the twenty-fifth hole after Smith and Dudley presented an unbeatable combination on the sun swept Miami Country Club course.

While they are favorites in the lower bracket of the matches were accomplishing their route, Gene Sarazen, Fresh Meadow, L. I., and Johnny Farrell, St. Augustine, Fla., spun a similarly handy 7 and 6 victory over their second day opponents, Johnie Manion, St. Louis, and Jim Dante, Madison, N. J.

MY FAULT My Greatest Golfing Weakness and How I Corrected It.

By Abe Espinosa,
Western Open Champion in 1928.
(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

This is the twenty-third of a series of articles written by famous amateur and professional golfers, telling how they overcame outstanding faults in their play.

Golf is essentially a game of the mind. In boxing and baseball and other competitive sports your opponent tries by every physical and mental means to prevent you from achieving your objective. Golf is different. Your opponent does not beat you. If you lose it is because you beat yourself.

If your rival sinks a 40-foot putt there is nothing in the world he can do to prevent you from matching his feat—if you get the line and hit the ball straight. But most of the time you don't. You're thinking about the necessity of getting the ball down, and pretty soon you think yourself right into trouble.

Winning golf is virtually impossible without ease of mind and confidence. Those assets may be entirely dependent on some utterly trivial thing. You get the idea, for instance, that you can't hit a shot within a certain club. When I run into trouble it's usually on the putting green. Now I realize as well as anyone else that "touch" is elusive. You have it one day and you haven't the next. Sometimes the cup looks so big you simply can't miss, and on other occasions it resembles the head of a pin.

Either condition is a mental one. The cup is always the same, and your stroking should be, but you can't look at it the same way. It isn't human nature to do so. The remedy for an improper outlook is to get yourself a proper one.

I have found that when I begin running my putts past the hole and miss them coming back, the resultant irritation has a decidedly bad effect on the rest of my game. It's bound to. My medicine lies in a change of putters. Let Bobby Jones stick to his "Calamity Jane." I'll switch.

Now I understand that just using another putter has little to do with the mechanics of the stroke. But I do know that it has a beneficial effect on me—and that is the necessary thing.

If I start missing putts I'm like everyone else, inclined to blame the tool rather than the workman. If I use another club I regain some of my confidence. This is all that's needed most of the time.

It may not work with others, but it has for me. If you run into a bad putting streak try the idea. If you have been using an aluminum putter take a putting creak with you. It may help. You never can tell, for the mind reacts in peculiar ways—but certainly the change can't hurt you very much.

MERCER TO OPEN WITH CRACKERS

MACON, Ga., March 10.—(AP)—The Mercer baseball schedule for 1930 as announced by Coach Harold McNabb calls for 22 definite contests with two tentative dates. The card includes two games with the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern league at their Douglas, Ga., training camp.

The Bears will start practice on March 15 and will have about 10 days' training before the opening game with the Crackers.

Coach McNabb has several regulars back and is depending on some promising rookie material up from the freshman ranks to plug the gaps made by graduation of last year's regulars.

The pitching duties will fall to the Stapleton brothers, Nevt and Edgar, "Yank" Wright, Bill Underwood, Jimmy Wilkes and George Carroll. Four backstops—Bill Alderman, Reeves Lewis, Red Heyer and H. P. Giddens—will be available.

McNabb has three candidates for the first base post and two for second base. "Red" Marshall, Bradford Lawson and Johnson will try for the first base assignment, while Peggy Campbell and "Shorty" Hollingsworth will battle for the keystone sack post.

Joe Marion, last year's freshman shortstop sensation, seems sure of a berth on the varsity, while Belle and Venzey will scrap for third base.

Three veterans—"Baggy" Mallard, Jody Matt and George Fotts—along with several sophomores, are listed for outer garden trials.

In addition to the games on the schedule already arranged the Bears will play several games with the Macon Peaches of the South Atlantic loop.

and afternoon. The fielding was extremely snappy. Manager Joe McCarthy is giving close attention to the performance of his rookie pitchers. He believes he has a pair of live ones in Moss and Nelson, despite their wildness against the Los Angeles Coast leaguers in Sunday's exhibition game.

Pirates.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 10.—(UN)—Morning and afternoon drills were indulged in by the Pittsburgh Pirates here today, each session being featured by hard infield workouts. While Gus Suh's work at first base has been of high caliber, the new infield lineup of Grantham, Sankey and Pie Traynor shows the need of considerable practice before the combination can function smoothly. Fred Woods, a California mound prospect, has been dropped.

Senators.

BILOXI, Miss., March 10.—(UN)—Pitcher Garland signed his 1930 contract today with the Washington Senators. He will take light workouts here for ten days and then return to his home to have an abscessed tooth removed.

Outfielder Powell and First Baseman Bradley worked out today. Powell impressed Scout Joe Engle last year when he hit several homers in a game in Washington, while playing with the Takoma Park, D. C., Tigers, amateurs.

Giants.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 10.—(UN)—Fred Lindstrom, holdout third baseman, of the New York Giants, arrived here today too late to take part in a practice game. He said he was about six or seven pounds overweight but in fine shape as a result of having spent the winter bathing in Florida.

Lindstrom said he was willing to sign at the same figure that he received last year, but would not take a $2,500 cut.

Phillies.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 10.—(UN)—Major Harry A. Mackey, of Philadelphia, visited the Phillies in their training camp here today and after watching their practice predicted they have a chance to meet the Athletics in the world series. He welcomed Grover Cleveland Alexander back to the Phillies.

Manager Shotton continued to drill both Don Hurst and Jack Sherlock at first base, but Hurst also works in the outfield in case Chuck Klein should finally fail to come to terms.

First G. I. A. A. Boxing Tournament To Start Friday at Riverside

FIVE SCHOOLS FILE ENTRIES WITH BEAVER

Wrestling Teams To Compete at Same Time in Gainesville.

Tech High, Lanier High, Savannah, Norman Junior College and Riverside Military Academy will be represented in the first annual G. I. A. A. boxing and wrestling tournament, which will be held Friday and Saturday in the big Riverside gymnasium at Gainesville, according to word received Monday from Bobby Hooks, Riverside boxing coach.

Some time ago, at a meeting of the G. I. A. A., held here in the Y. M. C. A., Colonel Sandy Beaver, president of Riverside Military Academy, offered to sponsor the boxing and wrestling tournament for the association, also swimming, tennis and golf, should the association so desire.

His boxing and wrestling offer was immediately accepted and plans have been practically completed for the event.

Bobby Hooks has been confined to his room with an attack of influenza during the past week and the list of entries from the various schools was not available Monday. They will be released within the next two days, Colonel Beaver said Monday.

W. O. Cheney, principal of Tech High school, was named chairman of the golf committee, and Captain Woodward, of G. M. A., was named chairman of the swimming committee of the G. I. A. A. Dates for the golf and swimming meets have been set.

Prep Nines Start Work.

Seven of Atlanta's nine prep baseball coaches assembled their candidates for the 1930 season Monday afternoon on various diamonds in the city, while two others, Tech High and Boys' High, delayed their start until Wednesday afternoon.

Coch John Bean, at Marist College, found six letters from last year's team answering the first call. They are Holt, pitcher; Holliday, catcher; Barclay, third base; Lacker, second base; Van Houten and Stevens, in the outfield. In addition to those veterans he has Moe Kinsberg, a former pitcher on the Iman Park Cardinal team, and sandlot champions of Georgia and this region. Hank Smith, who will help Holliday with the catching and the two will alternate in the outfield with Van Houten and Stevens in other two positions.

Coch Bean was more than pleased with the prospects in Monday afternoon's practice. There were more than 25 youngsters out working all afternoon.

At Piedmont park only University school candidates were working. Coach Hodges was all smiles when his pitching staff was mentioned, but gloomy about his infield and outfield candidates. Huben Tucker, the best southpaw in the league last season, answered the call and is ready to go. McKinley, a right-hander, will assist Tucker in the box this year.

Captain Ellington at first base is the only infielder left from last year. Kane, Raul, Fain, Martin, Jackson and Betsell are the new infield candidates. Parham is the only outfielder to return and Buckalew, Dromery, Mier, Alden, Hall and Crawford are the likely looking outfield prospects. Behind the bat University will have Norrell, a veteran from last year, and Cox and Peek, newcomers, to try for second-string duty.

When Coach Alton Liles sounded the call at Commercial High Monday, 35 young candidates responded. The catchers are Eberhard and Vren; pitchers, Cook, Laine, Gossett and Dean; infielders, Arnold, Bellamy, Davis, Riley, Dennis, Archer and Robertson, with Coffield, A. Dennis, Crennor, Evans and Jones answering the call for outfield duty. Commercial High will practice daily at Kirkwood park. G. M. A., Russell, Decatur and Fulton started work Monday afternoon on their own diamonds and only batting practices were on the schedules.

The Mysterious Island.
TUNIS, March 10.—It happened 35 years ago, when they held their winter sports outdoors instead of in the steam-heated Madison Square Garden, when men were men and women were clinging vines and when Sparrow Robertson really was a Sparrow, in the days before the automobile practically made the sparrow as extinct in the feathered tribe as the fabled dodo. The Sparrow tells the yarn himself in the shelter of Harry's bar with the vivid touch of a Defoe.

Thirty-five years ago they were holding the ice skating championships in the Shrewsbury river, off Red Bank, where descendants of the old Vikings still race their ice yachts, defying the elements in spite of prohibition. That year the great Joe Donoghue was defending his speed championship against Johnny Johnson, or Young Yonson, as he was called in his native tongue, the winged Swede of Minneapolis, Minn.

All that the record books tell about the events of that period are that Yonny Yonson won the race by Yimminy and the Donoghue lost the championship. But the more dramatic occurrence that ensued is unchronicled excepting in the faded files of Mr. Dana's New York Sun.

The half-mile track was marked out on the open ice off Red Bank, N. J. Mr. Sparrow Robertson, who was acting as starter and judge, mapped it out himself, skimming round on his skates, for the Sparrow was a fast skater in those days and could cut a figure eight on the ice with one skate curled around his neck.

In fact, the entire meet was managed by the promoting genius of the Sparrow.

Inside the track there were dressing huts, a band stand and a refreshment hut for the convenience of the customers. The Sparrow always made the convenience of the customers his first consideration. All great and successful promoters work that way.

The ice seemed safe enough, being more than 30 inches thick, and most of the spectators were in the frozen infield near the refreshment hut or listening to the old Seventh Regiment band. But the field was so large that the skaters in circumventing the half-mile track began to cut deep furrows in the ice, threatening to dislodge it from the main land.

The events were of such a stirring nature and the comforts provided through the thoughtfulness of Mr. Robertson were so soothing that the spectators paid little attention to that part of it. It was not until Yonny Yonson won the main event from Mr. Donoghue that it became apparent that the half-mile island was being detached from New Jersey and was floating out toward the open sea.

There was a rush to the shore. Mr. Robertson, who had property in the refreshment hut of a fragile and perishable nature, did not join the rush. Instead he went about in a calm and methodical manner in the work of salvage. Mr. Robertson never lost his head or his drink in any crisis, no matter how excited the others might be.

The open water between the ice island and New Jersey widened until they removed some of the strangers by making a bridge of plants. The slide trombone of the Seventh Regiment band was one of the last to leave. They rescued him when he extended his instrument so that it reached the shore. Then they contracted the trombone and the imperiled bandman was pulled to New Jersey in safety, though his feet dragged in the water and he caught a severe cold, which was cured only by immediate and copious applications of rock and rye.

Like Robinson Crusoe.
When the Sparrow emerged from the refreshment hut, a mist had fallen over the scene and he became aware that the ice island had become entirely separated from the Jersey shore. He could tell by the position that he was drifting out to sea and being somewhat familiar with navigation in the lower New York harbor, he could tell from the fog horns that he must be passing Sandy Hook out into the great Atlantic.

In this emergency he thought only of the duty to his paper, the "New York Sun." A less resourceful journalist would only have thought, but with the Sparrow, to think always meant to act. He returned to the refreshment hut, and selecting a bottle of suitable size, drained its contents to the last drop. He realized that he must conserve his provisions.

Then he sat down at the bar and methodically wrote an account of the skating meet. When it was concluded he addressed it to Mr. Dana, care of the "New York Sun," and placed it in the bottle. Corking the bottle tightly and sealing it with a bit of chewing gum of a brand popular in that period, he walked to the edge of the ice and carefully set the bottle adrift, hoping that it would reach the beach at Coney Island and be transferred to its destination. The story might be late for the edition, but then he had done his best to protect his paper.

His reveries were interrupted by an anguishing bleating which at first terrified the lone Sparrow. But he cocked his starter's pistol and started to investigate. He found that he was not alone on the island. A New Jersey nanny goat was marooned with him.

At first Mr. Robertson thought of emulating the other Robinson Crusoe and making a coat of the nanny goat but, being a humane man, he decided to keep the nanny goat as a mascot and a reserve dairy because he detested condensed milk of which he had a limited supply.

JONES IS SET FOR HIS MATCH WITH SHIKAT

Weber Offers Jam-Up Card Here Wednesday at Auditorium.

John Paul Jones, the stout Texan, is all set for the effort of his life Wednesday night at the auditorium in his championship wrestling match with Dick Shikat, recognized champion by the New York commission.

For Jones it is a chance to bound into the front rank of those fighting for the wrestling title. Jones, seen at training, is as nervous over this shot as any of the prizefighting gentry are over their title shots.

HAD TEST.
Joe (Toots) Mondy, manager of Dick Shikat, declares that his man is ready for a hard test. They demanded and got a good guarantee from Promoter Henry Weber. They knew they were up against a tough foe in Paul Jones, the versatile man with the body-crushing hold that has defeated so many of the best scissers.

The semi-windup card, that has been somewhat overlooked in the excitement over the appearance of Dick Shikat, is about saying that Roy Lundy is about to have a plastic surgeon when he (Fox) gets through with him. Fox is the Art Shires of the wrestling ring and, like the great who has brought backed up his self-laudatory assertions with victories over tough opponents. Weber has brought him in a real foe in the Canadian, but Fox is confident.

RING'S TOUGH EGG.
This match, featuring the ring's tough egg, will go on immediately after the opening preliminary. The preliminary, a 15-minute match, goes on exactly at 8:15 o'clock. Then come Fox and La Ducey.

After them comes the deluge of championship stuff—Shikat vs. Jones. This match is one of the most difficult Shikat has had since he was awarded the title by the New York and Pennsylvania commissions. He has swept every opponent aside in the east. He has won some matches in the south, but this one is the hardest.

Mondy wanted a referee from New York or Chicago. Weber assured him of a fair deal. The referee will be from New York, and he might be well to mention that Atlanta is fortunate in having a man like Weber who enjoys the confidence and respect of the public, the press and the boxing commission.

The commissioners of Atlanta declare him to be one of the best promoters they have had in a deal with the press and the boxing commission. The commissioners of Atlanta declare him to be one of the best promoters they have had in a deal with the press and the boxing commission.

While on the subject of the press and the boxing commission, the commissioners of Atlanta declare him to be one of the best promoters they have had in a deal with the press and the boxing commission.

Webster has brought the game back to honest methods. That is why, within a few weeks after he began promoting here, he was able to bring on a championship match which looks like an all-out.

KEEPS PROMISE.
Weber promised the fans that he was promoting on a high level and would not take advantage of them. He did not raise prices for the match tomorrow night. Ladies will be admitted to any seat in the house for 75 cents.

The regular prices prevail for men. Tickets may be had at the Piedmont Hatters and at the Candler Building soda fountain.

Webster's crowds have grown steadily and his match promises to be the greatest ever staged in Atlanta. This means the greatest the south has seen. Shikat, of course, is the favorite.

But Jones is a chance. There is hardly a chance that Shikat can escape without being pinned at least once and if Jones gets one he may get two. This is the chance of a pin Shikat unless he goes to the ropes.

Jones is the only wrestler who has won a fall from Shikat, winning that in a match six months ago. That is why he was given the chance at the big champion in the Atlanta ring. Jones is Atlanta's favorite. The fans will be pulling for him.

Tech Foils Team To Meet Georgia
To Meet Georgia

Recognized by the military department as its official representative after a long fight, the Georgia Tech R. O. T. C. fencing team is drilling hard at present for its first scheduled match. The Jackets are slated to face the Bull Run A. C. team on Friday.

It will be the first competitive match for either team.

Fencing at the Flats has drawn much interest since it was first tried out early last year, but the team has never before had a chance to try its skill in matches, due to lack of official approval.

The Jackets and the Bulldogs will meet in foils and epee, both varsity and freshman teams taking part.

Captain Rube Scherer will compose the Tech foils team, while Ruth, Heard and Arnold will handle the epee. Nine individual bouts will each Tech team meeting each Bulldogs are on the card for the Friday match.

Ruth, Wimberley and Professor Moseus, of the Tech architectural department, have been acting in the capacity of coaches for the Tech squad. They have had approximately 25 men working for the team since its inception and expect more since the sport has been recognized. A good team is planned.

State Tourney Pairings Made

With eight teams entered, the state Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament will be played Friday and Saturday on the Y. M. C. A. court on Luckie street. Pairings for the tournament were made Monday night at a meeting of the tournament officials.

Trion Y. M. C. A. Thomaston Athletic Club and Gulf Refining Company drew places in the upper bracket, while Lanett Athletic Club, Athens Y. M. C. A., Atlanta Y. M. C. A. and Columbus Y. M. C. A. are in the lower bracket.

The first game will be played at 6 o'clock Friday night between Trion and Rome. Thomaston and Gulf will play at 7 o'clock. Lanett and Athens at 8 o'clock and Atlanta and Columbus will close the day's program at 9 o'clock.

Semi-finals will be played at 2 and 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and the finals at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

All Night Games.
The Bears of State Teachers college, Springfield, Mo., will play every Missouri Intercollegiate A. A. football game.

Grant Park Wins In Epworth Meet

Two fiercely fought basketball games played Monday night at Wesley court resulted in College Park and Grant Park, two old-time rivals, advancing into the finals of the Epworth Athletic Association tournament, which will be played Thursday night.

This came about due to the fact that the Epworth team, which was the favorite to win, was defeated by the College Park team in a 13-to-10 game.

The College Park team, which was the underdog, won the game by a 13-to-10 score. The game was a close one, with both teams playing well.

MANN GIVES DIAMOND HINTS IN TALK HERE

Sportsmen and Amateur Players Hear Lecture in 'Y' Auditorium.

Using a series of moving pictures to explain his lecture and with the blackboard and crayon as another means of demonstrating his points, Leslie Mann, former big league star, held the interest of more than 75 sports loving fans Monday night in a talk at the Y. M. C. A.

Mann is appearing here in the interest of the N. A. A. F., as a field representative and will speak to coaches and athletic directors of all amateur sports around Atlanta at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Y. M. C. A.

Among the most interested spectators in the audience Monday night were J. Carlyle (Red) Smith, Atlanta's own, who was a teammate of Mann on the famous Boston Braves team of 1914, Bill Fincher, line coach at Georgia Tech, Trammell Scott, well-known sportman, Frank Anderson, director of athletics at Oglethorpe University and many others.

Mann spoke primarily on the fundamentals of baseball, point out the many defects of a batter and illustrating his points with moving pictures. He showed Heinie Grob's batting stance, Roger Hornsby's stance, Andy High, Babe Ruth and many others, and how they have become idols of all baseball fans.

He illustrated one particular point known as "stepping into the bucket," which is fatal to many batters, but one which Al Simmons uses to advantage and still has plenty of power. "There are few Simmons, however," he said.

Another point on which he dwelt at length was a "gaze" at the pitcher. Many batters see the pitcher and notice his every movement and as a result, fail to follow the ball on a pitch. A batter must gaze in the direction of the pitcher and concentrate on the pitch, usually has a higher average than those who do not.

He explained that Dazzy Vance, the strikeout king, formerly was a way of slitting his sweat shirt and in his hand the batter saw the sleeve flying rather than watch for the ball to come from his right hand. Some pitchers have a way of smiling at the batter to distract his attention, and then cut loose with a straight fast one or an overhand slow one.

There are hundreds of ways of distracting a batter's attention, but the clever batter singles out the pitching hand and waits for the ball to be thrown from the finger tips, before focusing his eyes.

Mann, in his talk on psychology in sports, stated that Knute Rockne and Robert Zuppke are to his mind the greatest coaches in the Epworth circuit. They are eternally catching the other fellow off his perch and come through with some simple play and that is why their football teams win with regularity.

Prep Officials Meet Wednesday

A meeting of the city prep league will be held at 6 o'clock Wednesday night in Coach Joe Bean's office at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Baseball schedules for the 1930 season will be drawn up and adopted and committees to handle various other sports during the spring months will be appointed. All phases of sports within the league will be discussed.

TED BECOMES DRAWING CARD

Aside from the late Tiger Flowers, Atlanta has not had a local boxer who was a real drawing card in many years.

Ted Goodrich, the bustling welterweight, is on the threshold of becoming the second hometown attraction in view of his approaching bout with Joe Dundee, ex-welterweight champion. Goodrich has patiently worked his way along fighting good boys to poor houses and winning his fights impressively. If he can get as good as a draw with Joe Dundee here March 18 his future is as good as made, boxing promoters think.

Young Stribling always boxes to big gates but he must be rated from Georgian-at-large rather than from Atlanta. He registers in the record books from Macon and from Thomasville as often as from Atlanta.

Joe Dundee, who was born Samuel Lazzaro, is the Italian-American scrapper who beat Pete Latzo in 1927 in a 15-round fight to win the welterweight title. He defended his title successfully until July 25, 1929, when he lost on a foul to Jackie Fields in Detroit.

Since that time Dundee has beaten Bert Colima, Billy Angelo and several other boys and is working his way back for another shot at Jackie Fields, the present champion.

The fight here at the auditorium will be just another obstacle in Dundee's comeback campaign. But it will be the big shot for Goodrich.

Matchmaker Max Abelson has laid out a big guarantee for Dundee and now is working on a good preliminary card to meet out-of-town odds for the ringside tickets was received yesterday when five West Point fans reserved their seats.

mittee, learning that President Louis Borno was attempting to break his promise of adherence to the commission's plan for a provisional government and legislative elections, tonight telephoned to Port-Au-Prince warning the president to keep his word.

The commissioners told him that he must take all the consequences, political and personal, if he refused. Their plan was to send a public with President Borno's approval yesterday, provided that President Borno, who has been strongly attacked by the group opposing American occupation, should serve out his term, which ends May 15. On that day the council of state would elect a provisional president.

W. Cameron Forbes, chairman of the commission, and Henry P. Fletcher telephoned to Brigadier General John H. Russell, American high commissioner, asking that the president be told to keep his promise. They delayed their trip for two hours.

Just before leaving Hincine, where Borno stayed last night, the commissioners received a telephone call from one of the leaders of the federated group opposed to the president. They were told that the council of state would elect the new president, and that legislative elections would be held until 1937.

It was learned that the message had been sent out on Saturday, before President Borno had received the written, formal promise of support to the commission's plan.

One of the principal grievances of the opposition has been the president's threat to postpone the elections. The commissioners believe that the text of the message, sent by the minister of the interior, just leaked out this morning.

Mr. Forbes asked General Russell to act as intermediary. He also telephoned James Clement Duff, counselor of the commission, who remained at Port-Au-Prince, asking him to tell the opposition group that the commission is standing by its word. We are not double-crossing anyone. We will see that President Borno keeps his word.

Both Mr. Forbes and Mr. Fletcher told Mr. Borno to urge the people to take President Borno's action quietly. Mr. Dunn told them that the president had refused to send a new message to the prefects telling them to accept the commission's plan and informing them of his promise to adhere to it. This was the last word the commissioners had this evening when they went aboard the U. S. S. Rochester. They will keep in touch with events at Port-Au-Prince by radio and cable.

Unofficially, they believe that it is best to let the president "stew over the mess he has made" until they return. They have shortened their trip and will probably arrive at the capital within two days. If serious disorders occur, however, they will leave again.

Mr. Dunn was authorized to re-appear to the people and the press that the group opposing American occupation, should serve out his term, which ends May 15. On that day the council of state would elect a provisional president.

do?" Mr. Yardley asked. "You have all the money you want for abroad?" "I have," said the president. "I have credit at any time you care to draw a cheque. Anything else?" "One thing," Beatrice interrupted, leaning out of the window. "A thousand pounds to Rachel Susan, who is at St. George's hospital—a wedding present from Major Owsen and myself."

The train glided out. I changed my place and sat by Beatrice's side. "Peace at last!" she sighed, with infinite content. "No more fighting, mind."

"All right then," I declared. "I went all through the war, on three fronts. I fought afterwards in Russia. I was in the Spanish Foreign Legion for a year, and never have I been in such danger or risked my life so often as during the few weeks I was a soldier of fortune, or whatever you call it, to your uncle."

Her light stole into mine. She laughed at me. "Well," she whispered, "the war is over. And soldiers after warfare—"

GROCERY IS HELD UP AND $50 LOOT TAKEN
One grocery was held up and the manager relieved of $50, a safe in another part of town was blown and $50 taken from it, while an automobile belonging to a football supply salesman was smashed and more than $300 worth of samples robbed by enterprising thieves.

The grocery at 226 Ponce de Leon was entered early Monday by one man who held the manager and clerk up, took the $50 and hurried to a waiting car.

The safe of the Atlanta Ice & Coal Company, 113 Boulevard N. E., was blown open Sunday night, employees of the company reported to police Monday.

The football samples were in the car of Jack Mooney, A. G. Spaulding & Bros. factory, which was blown in front of 71 Thirteenth street. It contained jerseys, sweat coats, pads and cleated shoes.

The police Monday night were without leads, they said.

DAY IN FINANCE

By R. L. BARNUM

NEW YORK, March 10.—Some stocks were strong and some soft in the early trading. In the noon hour the whole market turned upward under the leadership of Steel common. Steel common started to advance immediately after the February unfilled order statement was published at noon showing a gain of 11,000 tons for the month, whereas, a decrease had been expected. The total of 4,470,000 tons at the end of February compares with 4,444,800 a year ago and is the largest since February of 1926 when the figures were 4,616,000.

On the foregoing statement there was considerable short covering of Steel common. The stock has recently been sold short on the disappointing showing made by the steel industry during February.

Irregularity in the stock market early in the day was the result of more or less unfavorable news over the week-end on general trade. Building contracts let for the week ending March 7 in Greater New York made public early today showed a total of $12,285,000 against $44,255,000 the previous week and $22,285,000 a year ago. For the year to date the figures are $157,040,000 against $175,000,000 for the corresponding period of 1929.

Merger Agreement Seen.—Early in the day rumors were widespread that Youngstown Sheet and Tube had Republic Steel bidding.

Stocks generally turn upward late in day under leadership of Steel common. Bethlehem-Youngstown merger forecast.

Believing that building figures more than any other index will give the key to what is ahead in the way of general trade and employment, Wall Street is greatly interested in studying the P. W. Dodge Corporation statement now at hand for February and the two months of this year. The figures covering 37 states east of the Rocky Mountains or 91 per cent of the total construction volume of the country are $317,000,000 for this February, which is a decrease of 2 per cent from January of this year and a drop of 12 per cent compared with February of 1929. For the two months the total is $641,000,000, or 17 per cent under the corresponding period of 1929. For January alone of this year the decrease was 21 per cent compared with 1929.

On the surface it appears that the foregoing figures for February indicate improvement. To get at the truth, however, it is necessary to examine the figures for January and February of 1929 compared with 1928 and 1929 as a whole. For 1928 as a whole the total is $628,000,000, an increase of 5 per cent over 1927 to a new high record. For the 12 months of 1929 the total was $574,000,000 compared with 1928 of $628,000,000, a decrease of 8 per cent. For the first two months of 1929 the total was $771,000,000 or 13 per cent under the first two months of 1928.

To get at the facts, the 21 per cent decrease of 17 per cent for the two months must be compared with the decrease of 4 per cent for January of 1929 compared with 1928. For the first two months of 1929 the decrease of 8 per cent for February of last year compared with 1928, making the decrease for the first two months of 1929 the total was $574,000,000 compared with 1928 of $628,000,000, a decrease of 8 per cent. For the first two months of 1929 the total was $771,000,000 or 13 per cent under the first two months of 1928.

Call money advanced at 4 per cent and dropped to 3-1/2. At this time last year money rates were advancing because of heavy March 15 requirements. The present rate, which is low compared with a year ago, reflects slowing down general trade and stock market speculation.

Income Tax Surprises.
Informed Wall Street believes that there will be some surprises in the income tax returns filed this week ending Saturday with the surprises not pleasant. In addition to the reduction in the rates made shortly after the stock market crash there was a slowing down in general trade for the last quarter of 1929 with many income tax payers suffering losses in the stock market and many with profits for the year from trade or the stock market looking for deductions to be made from the 1929 statements.

The attitude of taxpayers this year, it is believed by some Wall Street people, has been different from that of a year ago when general trade and the stock market were strong and the "Wall Street" would be surprised to see some selling of stocks between now and Saturday to raise money for income tax payments.

Both the New York Stock Exchange and the curb market will close at 12:30 tomorrow in honor of the late William H. Taft.

W. H. Taft made a new high for this movement on widespread rumors that the directors at the meeting late in April will declare an extra dividend of $1. It is understood that
